The Honor System: On Trial

On Monday, August 28, a law suit challenging the authority of Mary Washington College's student Honor Council to dismiss a student for a rule infraction was filed in U.S. District Court in Richmond.

In the suit the former student, who was dismissed last year after the Honor Council found her guilty of an alleged theft from a fellow student, seeks re-instatement to the College claiming that the Mary Washington Rector and Board of Visitors have no authority to delegate disciplinary powers to a student body.

On Wednesday, October 11, U.S. District Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. declined to grant a temporary restraining order permitting the re-enrollment of the student, but in doing so stated that "it looks like she has a very strong case." He subsequently scheduled a hearing on the case for Thursday, November 16.

The following article concerning the honor system at Mary Washington was written by William Lakenan and appeared in the Free Lance-Star newspaper on Saturday, September 2. It is reprinted here with the permission of the Free Lance-Star.

> "Each student must realize that by accepting admission to Mary Washington, he has acknowledged his commitment to the provisions of the Honor Code."

A tremor went through Mary Washington College this week when federal judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. voiced "serious doubt" about the legal basis of the student Honor System.

The code, time-hallowed at the University of Virginia, was adopted wholesale at MWC when the women's college became part of U. Va. in 1944.

Now, ironically, it is under legal attack after the system was watered down slightly at MWC, which has since become independent of U. Va.

Modified or not, the honor system is exalted in MWC yearbooks and handbooks as the fundamental way of life for students. It is required of each student—including summer students—to sign a pledge supporting the system, and "no grades or credits will be released," the handbooks warn, "unless the pledge is on file."

Merhige notwithstanding, the system is apparently supported by a majority of the students themselves, according to a poll taken at the campus last winter.

Two-thirds of the students responded to the poll, said Honor Council president Barbara J. Barnes, with lopsided percentages in favor of the system. Eighty per cent, she quoted, felt that the Honor Council should have the right to judge student violations of the code and 72 per cent thought the system worked for the benefit of students.

It is the legal right of students to discipline fellow students that Merhige questioned in the U. S. District Court at Richmond this week.

The legal question is still pending and the college pointedly has shied away from any comment on it or the case in which it arose: a King William County student who was dismissed last year when the student Honor Council found her guilty of an alleged on-campus theft from a fellow-student.

The ex-student, Brenda Page Bright, is seeking readmission and challenging the right of MWC's rector and board of visitors to delegate dismissal powers to a student panel.

More than MWC's system may be at stake. Not just U. Va., but most of the well-known colleges in the state have some kind of honor system operating.

In practice, the system at Mary Washington has several built-in restrictions to keep it from becoming a run-away jury on a witch hunt.

The Honor Council, for example, cannot initiate any investigation, but only try cases that are brought to it by the parties involved—and that means both the accuser and the accused.

The charge, moreover, must be one of three types: lying, cheating or stealing. The council has no jurisdiction in other types.

The code also requires that before a case goes to the council, the accused student must be confronted by either a fellow student or faculty member and given a chance to explain the alleged violation. If the explanation satisfies, nothing further happens. If it doesn't, or if there is no explanation, it goes to the council.

The nine-member Council is made up of two students elected by each of the four classes, plus a president elected by the whole student body. A quorum of five can act, but a verdict cannot include more than one dissenting vote. The president does not vote, but only conducts the trial.

This is the third year that Barbara Barnes, a red-haired senior from Norfolk, Mass., has served on the Council—twice before as a class representative and now as president.

"We don't have many cases a year," she said, adding that her time is more taken up with the other duties of counseling students, supervising the system and keeping records of pledge cards.

Neither she nor faculty advisor William B. Crawley Jr. could remember exactly how many cases the Council handled last year. "Something like four or five," Crawley thought, but certainly much less than a dozen.

Trials are held in the board room at George Washington Hall and are usually behind closed doors, although the accused has a right to open trial if she wishes, Miss Barnes said. Sometimes they have run as long as 10 hours, but never more than a day.

The biggest change in the MWC system was put in three years ago, giving the Honor Council a third choice in the possible verdicts it can reach after a trial.

Where before it could only decide between acquittal or dismissal, it can now also choose the in-between verdict of a temporary suspension.

Crawley, who formerly served on U. Va.'s honor council while a graduate student in 1969-70, said the university feels that the third option weakens the system and a student referendum at U. Va. last year rejected the idea of allowing it.

The U. Va. theory, he said, is that the old system of hard alternatives acts as a deterrent, restraining accusers from bringing a charge and making the honor council careful to convict only with proof beyond a reasonable doubt.

Personally, he added, he isn't sure which system is better.

Miss Barnes said the motive behind the in-between option at MWC was that some students, up for honor code violations, might be under psychological strain due to problems at home and not necessarily a threat to the college that requires dismissal.

Crawley, a history teacher, was also on the honor council at Hampden-Sydney College while an undergraduate student and he recalled two other differences in the honor system there.

A student who spotted a violation of the code didn't have to confront the violator, he said, but could report it to the honor committee, which would investigate it.

Also, if the person who spotted a violation, did not report it, Crawley said, he would technically be in violation of the code himself.

Still another change in the Mary Washington code was made this year, adding a four-part amendment that allows for recall of Honor Council members who fail to perform efficiently or uphold the standards of office.

The students voted to add the amendment, Miss Barnes said, just as they did the third option of suspension three years ago.

A TRIBUTE

In simple language, Dick Cross was a devoted friend, a wise counselor, and a thoughtful and generous benefactor to Mary Washington College, to its faculty and its students. Over the years, he gave his close attention to the growth and development of the College, especially devoting his time and energy to stimulating interest among applicants for admission to the College. He and Mary opened their home and their hearts to all who sought their advice, and for them there was nothing too difficult or too demanding. To ask or to inquire was to be greeted with an enthusiastic and affirmative response.

Dick served the College for eight years as a member of the Mary Washington College Committee of the Board and was just beginning a three-year term on the new Board of Visitors of the College following its separation from the University. He requested the privilege of being recognized at the first meeting in order that he might nominate Lewis Walker, his long-time colleague on the University Board and the Mary Washington College Committee, as the new Rector.

The minister of the Chestnut Hill Presbyterian Church described Dick most admirably and truthfully when he referred to the fact that he loved to argue, to discuss—but never to quarrel.

The College and all people who were in any way touched by him over the years of our association will miss him greatly. We could not have had a better or more loyal friend.

Cross Grants Further Research at MWC

Richard S. Cross held an avid interest in Mary Washington College and its well being. He served as a member of the Mary Washington College Committee of the University of Virginia Board of Visitors for eight years. His daughter, Virginia Cross Wood, was a member of the Class of 1969. He was only recently named to Mary Washington's first Board of Visitors.

Prior to the opening of the 1971-72 school session Mr. Cross made available to the College funds to further undergraduate research. The results of the first year of this program were most impressive and gratifying, both to the College and to the individual students who received grants.

In all, the Committee on Special Degree Programs, which administers the funds, awarded eleven grants to fifteen students. These grants generated 83 hours of individual research credit at a total cost of $2,530.79. As stipulated in the provisions of the funding there was a maximum allowance of $500 per project.

MWC Today, Volume 1, Number 4, October, 1972. Published bi-monthly by Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401. Second Class postage paid at Fredericksburg, Virginia.

All of the projects undertaken in 1971-72 were completed except one which is continuing this semester. The findings in three of the projects—all in psychology—were presented at the 50th annual Virginia Academy of Science meeting; while three others—in physics, geography, and psychology—were the basis of honors work at the College. Several of the projects were considered publishable by the respective faculty advisers and this possibility is still being considered.

Under the provisions of the grant the individual stipends will be awarded each year on a competitive basis to individual students who have registered for the appropriate course and submitted a specific project proposal to the Dean's Committee on Special Degree Programs. The student's project must be sponsored by a faculty member with the approval of the Department Chairman.

The awarded funds may be used for reasonable research expenses such as travel for research purposes and/or paper presentations, materials, clerical assistance, etc. The expenditure of funds must be approved in each instance by the student's research adviser and the Dean's Committee or the Dean.

Funds for continuing the program were made available for the 1972-73 school year with additional revenue coming from the senior class gift by the Class of '72 and from alumnae contributions. Project proposals were received for the first semester and will also be received for the second semester.

During the 1971-72 school year grants were awarded for the following projects:

The Theatre of Galdos by Diana S. Furr; directed by Miss Carmen Rivera, Professor of Modern Foreign Languages. This project is not scheduled for completion until 1972-73.

Genetic Contributions to Domestication in Mice by Beverly Heminway and Michele Langlais; directed by Mr. Roy Smith, Assistant Professor of Psychology.

Social Behavior in Pigeons by Sally Henry; directed by Mr. Bruce MacEwen, Assistant Professor of Psychology. (Paper presented at Virginia Academy of Science)

Theoretical Investigation of Atomic Nuclei Near the Magic Nucleus Sn Using the Atalay-Cliao Intermediate Coupling Scheme by Linda L. Jones; directed by Bulent I. Atalay, Associate Professor of Physics.

The Move of the Capital in British Honduras from Belize to Belmopan by Patricia M. Kewer; directed by Mr. James Gouger, Assistant Professor of Geography.

Relocation of the Capital of British Honduras as Perceived by the Belizean People by Pamela Sue Landreth; directed by Mr. James Gouger, Assistant Professor of Geography.

Sensitivity to Gaussian Noise Patterns in the Human by Charlotte Weitzel; directed by Mr. Ricardo Dobson, Assistant Professor of Psychology. (Paper presented at Virginia Academy of Science)

The Rector: A Profile

The following article by Linda Evans appeared in the September 19 issue of the Free Lance-Star newspaper and is reprinted here with that newspaper's permission.

Lewis M. Walker Jr. put both arms through a tan sports jacket, lit his pipe and sat down in the paneled board room of Mary Washington College. Thinking about his long association with the college and its ex-parent, The University of Virginia, put a gentle smile on his tanned face.

The separation of Mary Washington College from the University in July put Lewis Walker in a whole new ball game. After an association with the University that had dated back to the days when he was enrolled there as a student, Walker cut his official ties in 1970 by retiring from the University Board of Visitors. Beginning in 1963, he served for eight years on that board, spending all but the first year on the Mary Washington College committee—the last four as chairman.

When Gov. Linwood Holton appointed him to the new Board of Visitors for an independent Mary Washington College, Walker said he had no hesitations at all.

He had long since won the respect and admiration of the many administrative officials at Mary Washington, and the other 11 members of the new board showed their confidence in him by unanimously selecting him rector, to serve a two-year term.

In an interview at the college during a recent visit, Walker said that upon his retirement from the University board, he never expected to become a part of another college board, but the changes that occurred at Mary Washington offered him an opportunity he had never expected—the return to an activity he obviously loves.

Considered quite a sportsman by his friends, Walker said his weaknesses are hunting and fishing, and he likes to go "anywhere anybody would invite me to go."

One long-time associate, Dr. Reginald W. Whidden, a former dean of MWC, said of Walker, "he brings a remarkable combination of things to the MWC board." He cited an understanding of the academic point of view (he had originally planned to be a college teacher), the ability to take the businessman's point of view, (he is president of Builder's Supply Company in humor and warmth of personality" as contributors to his overall ability as rector.

The surroundings of the MWC boardroom are in definite contrast to the more natural, outdoor setting of his farm outside of Petersburg. More often than not, Whidden said, Walker will be out driving his tractor.

"He is a strong man, an ideal person to run the board," Whidden said. His association with the college, as a member of the U.Va. board and as chairman of the MWC committee, was a "tremendous help and support for the college," Whidden added retrospectively.

Another associate and friend over the 10-year period that Walker has been known in the college community is Dr. Grellet C. Simpson, president of MWC.

"Our new rector is, first of all, an educator—by inclination, temperament and academic training, as well as by his record of professional and public service to the Commonwealth and to Mary Washington College," Simpson said thoughtfully.

"It would be a grievous mistake on anyone's part to assume that Walker's appointment was merely a political reward," Simpson continued.

In accepting the position of rector, Walker "committed himself to a job without compensation, but with unlimited demands upon his time, and he has demonstrated his willingness to give of himself unselfishly for the welfare of our common cause," Simpson said.

Walker's deep, personal concern for the college is evident upon talking to him. Right now, he will not commit himself on predicting where Mary Washington is heading. He will say with pride that the college in Fredericksburg is unique in that it is one of a very few primarily liberal arts colleges for women in the country.

That's not to say he is not aware of the increasing role of male students at the college. He said he expects to see a great many more men attending classes here, but feels their role will stay basically non-residential.

Walker insists there have been very few changes on the Charlottesville campus during his association with it, but says changes will occur at the campus here and at George Mason in Fairfax, another branch of the University that severed ties at the same time as MWC.

Mary Washington College "will develop in its own path, and develop its own purpose," the descendant of Fielding and Betty Lewis said. He cited population growth along the I-95 corridor between Washington and Richmond as a factor in the potential growth of the college. Instead of a liberal arts college in a small town, it will now be situated in a more heavily populated area.

Walker reiterated a position he held on the University board that students should not become members of any college board. By the time a student learns the function of a voting member on a board of visitors, he has so little time left in college, Walker said. Of course, at MWC, as well as at other state-supported institutions of higher learning, that matter would rest with the governor of the state, he pointed out.

Another administrator at Mary Washington, Michael Houston, the vice president, said his association with Walker has been one that has left him impressed with Walker's "extreme interest in the college and his willingness to give of his time, expertise and general knowledge."

Walker is never "too busy to counsel and work with us," Houston said. He is "an astute observer" and is "well read," being a very successful businessman with "very broad, wide interests," said Houston.

Walker "knows what a college and university is all about," Houston commented. "He's the kind of person we need more of."

College Community Voices Support Of Honor System

The Mary Washington College Board of Visitors, at its Fall meeting, adopted a resolution supporting the Mary Washington Honor System and indicating the Board's intention to defend the College and the System in a suit pending in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

The Mary Washington Board in giving unanimous approval to the September 9 Resolution, indicated that in the event the decision in the District Court should be adverse to the College, appeals to such a decision would be made "so far as possible."

The Board directed President Simpson to convey its sentiment of support to not only the members of the Honor Council but also to the entire academic community.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS by resolution adopted July 28, 1972 the Board of Visitors of Mary Washington College reaffirmed and ratified the Honor System for the College and delegated its enforcement and administration to the student body, and

WHEREAS the Honor System of Mary Washington College has come under attack in a suit brought in the U. S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia under style of Brenda Page Bright v. The Rector and Visitors of Mary Washington College, and

WHEREAS the Board is firmly committed to the principle that the preservation of the Honor System is necessary for the proper operation of the College,

Now therefore the Board of Visitors of Mary Washington College does hereby resolve to defend vigorously in said suit the Honor System and the College, and that in the event that an adverse decision should be rendered, to appeal the same so far as is possible, and the Rector and President are authorized and directed to take such action as shall be necessary to accomplish this Resolution.

* * * *

The Board of Directors of the Mary Washington College Alumni Association has joined the school's Board of Visitors in expressing its unanimous support of the Honor System.

In backing the Board's action, the Alumni Directors in the Resolution approved at its regular quarterly meeting on September 23, said that the "Honor System has long been an integral part of college life and an essential instrument for providing an atmosphere of freedom, responsibility and trust. Having lived with the Honor System, alumni are committed to the preservation of the system as necessary to a free and democratic way of life at the College."

The complete text of the Resolution follows:

RESOLUTION

We, the members of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association of Mary Washington College unanimously reaffirm and announce our support of the Honor System of the College. The Honor System has long been an integral part of college life and an essential instrument for providing an atmosphere of freedom, responsibility and trust. Having lived with the Honor System, alumni are committed to the preservation of this system as necessary to a free and democratic way of life at the College.

We therefore unanimously endorse the Resolution adopted September 9, 1972 by the Board of Visitors at Mary Washington College to defend vigorously the current legal attack on the Honor System.

Meeting on October 11, the Mary Washington College faculty passed the following resolution supporting the Honor System at the College:

RESOLUTION

We, the faculty of Mary Washington College, reaffirm our support for the Honor Council of the College and our confidence in the ability of this group to administer the Honor System fairly under the authority it holds from the Board of Visitors of the College.

The Honor System is an essential part of the academic life maintained at Mary Washington College as well as a part of the system of trust and responsibility which governs relations among members of the academic community.

We, therefore, strongly endorse the Honor System and urge its defense and preservation by all proper legal means. We also direct attention to the similar resolutions passed by the Board of Visitors of the College, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association.

Drama Season Opens With Klein Benefit

Dr. Roger Kenvin, Chairman of the Department of Dramatic Arts, has announced that the first dramatic production of the year, Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be presented in memory of the late Dr. Albert R. Klein with all proceeds from the four-performance run going to the Klein Scholarship Fund.

The fantasy by Wilder will open on Wednesday, October 25, and run through Saturday, October 28. All performances will begin at 8:00 p.m. in Klein Memorial Theatre located in duPont Hall.

Tickets will be $1.00 for students and $2.00 for other members of the College community and the general public. Other donations to the scholarship fund will also be gratefully received at this time. Tickets for the production may be reserved at the Klein Theatre box office beginning Wednesday, October 18, or by calling 373-7250, Extension 375. Persons wishing to purchase tickets or make donations by mail should address such correspondence to: Dr. Roger Kenvin, Department of Dramatic Arts, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401.

The Klein Scholarship Fund was established following Dr. Klein's death on October 6, 1970, and last year the former Little Theater in duPont Hall was renamed in his honor. At the time of his death Dr. Klein was Chairman of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech and had been a member of the Mary Washington faculty for 18 years. Last year two students in dramatic arts were named recipients of $500 scholarships from the fund for the 1972-73 session.

One of America's most delightful plays, "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be directed by Dr. Kenvin, who returned to Mary Washington College this year following three years as Chairman of the Cooperative Department of Speech and Drama at the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College.

Dr. Kenvin promises dinosaurs, mammoths, bathing beauties, and many other theatrical treats. Playing the leading role of Sabina is Katherine Prchal, a sophomore transfer student, who has previously acted at The University of Montana and Stratford, Ontario. Junior drama major Randolph Moomaw portrays George Antrobus, inventor of the wheel, with Maribeth Brewster, a junior drama major, as his wife. Their children, Gladys and Henry, are played by Susan Lane, a senior in drama, and Beaver Brewster, a local resident. The cast numbers about thirty in all.

Sets and costumes have been designed by Joseph Dodd, a junior drama major, and the lighting by Karen Woltz, a senior drama major. Assistant Director is Patricia Ballentine, a senior in drama.

Total Enrollment Up For 1972-73 Session

Mary Washington College opened its first year of independence from the University of Virginia with an increase in enrollment, including more men and more black students.

Mrs. Jane N. Saladin, Registrar, said that total enrollment at the college this year is 2,246. Of this, 36 are black and 52 are men, including 11 resident males living for the first time in an on-campus male dormitory.

Last year 2,100 students were enrolled in the College, including 23 blacks and 39 men. The number of day students attending classes has also increased from 245 last year to 344 in 1972.

The College is operating on a revised calendar that was used for the first time last year, and then adopted by the faculty for use this year. Under the new schedule First semester, including exams, will conclude before Christmas and graduation will be in mid-May.

Mrs. Saladin indicated that the increase in day students had been anticipated by the College as more men were accepted. Many men, she said, are married and attending college part-time. Also, in recent years there has been a new freedom for all students, with parental permission, to live off campus.

Janet L. Hedrick Receives First Quenzel Scholarship

Miss Janet L. Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Hedrick of Chatham, has been selected as the first recipient of the Carrol H. Quenzel Memorial Scholarship at Mary Washington College.

The scholarship, which varies in amount depending upon the need of the recipient, was established in January from a $10,000 endowment to honor the late Carrol H. Quenzel. Dr. Quenzel, who died in 1968, served as College Librarian and Professor of History for more than a quarter of a century.

In awarding the scholarship, the Committee on Financial Aid looked for a student in good academic standing who had worked the preceding semester in the college's library.

The Alumni

From The President . . .

I have recently returned from a reunion with several members of my class of '59 and our families in Charlottesville, Virginia, where we gathered in a city park for a picnic, talk, play, and a bit of nostalgia. Once we six girls could sit around a C-Shop table or in a dorm room for a gab fest—now it takes a park to hold us, our husbands, nineteen children, and another on the way! Yet the bond of shared experiences in our years at Mary Washington College still exists among us, and friendships have deepened as our interests and relationships have matured. This visit with former classmates has caused me to reflect on what I feel about the College today and why I believe my continued support of it is important to the College and to me.

First, I believe the variety and quality of learning opportunities offered at Mary Washington College, both in and out of the classroom, were good. They have stood the test of living for me these past thirteen years. I believe the attitudes and disciplines of the liberal arts education are valid for today and worthy of my efforts to preserve them at MWC.

Second, I believe that college life has improved at our alma mater. True, the dress is more casual and the rules are more flexible than in previous years, but the important qualities of student life—intellectual curiosity, a concern for the individual, and personal responsibility—are found in greater proportion now by those who look beneath surface appearances.

Third, I find myself filled with an old-fashioned feeling of loyalty—loyalty to the people of the College who have meant a great deal to me over the years, loyalty to ideals of honor and excellence that were part of our life on the Hill, loyalty to an institution that believes in youth and the future.

The word gratitude probably best expresses my feelings toward Mary Washington College. I am grateful for all that my years at MWC have meant to me. Because of this feeling, it is very satisfying for me to support the College today—a college with a proud past but an even more exciting future as an independent institution in the state system.

I invite you to join me in giving Mary Washington College your moral, your financial, and your personal support. This is a new day for our alma mater. We, as alumnae, have a larger responsibility for its success. I challenge you to find a way to express your gratitude to MWC as it embarks on this venture of independence. Join with your fellow alumnae to give greater strength to alumnae support of the College as we receive greater opportunities for alumnae participation in the College policy-making process. This is a new day for alumnae as well as the College.

Alumnae Association Makes Name Change

Taking cognizance of Mary Washington's change to a co-educational institution, the Board of Directors of the Alumnae Association voted at its fall meeting to officially change its title to Mary Washington College Alumni Association.

The official action by the Board takes note of the four male students in the Class of '72 and of the increasing number of men enrolling at the College.

The men who received degrees in the 1972 graduation ceremony were not the first men to receive degrees at the College. After World War II and the Korean War, veterans were admitted to the College on a full-time basis. No degrees had been awarded to men since 1958.

Committee Begins Search For Distinguished Alumna

The Distinguished Alumna Award Committee of the Mary Washington College Alumnae Association has announced that nominations for the 1973 award must be submitted by December 1, 1972. The award will be presented during the Homecoming program April 13-15, 1973.

The Award, established in 1966, annually honors an alumna who has distinguished herself by contributions to her profession, civic profession, the arts and/or sciences, or humanitarian causes.

Any alumna is eligible for the award except current members of the Board of Directors. Only one award is made each year.

Previous recipients of the award are Mrs. Aileen Hirschman Belford '43, Miss Clara Boyd Wheeler '31, the late Mrs. Catherine Dryden August '37, Mrs. Margaret Lodge Copes '32, Mrs. Willie Lee Nichols Rose '47, and Mrs. Molly Vaughn Parrish '29.

Nominations may be made by any individual. The following information should be included in a letter of nominations: name, class and current address of the nominee; reasons for the nomination; other references who may be contacted; and the name and address of the person making the nomination.

The selection committee is appointed by the President of the Alumnae Association and is chaired this year by Mrs. Kathy Friedman Levinson '63. Final approval of the committee's choice must be made by the Executive Committee of the Alumnae Association.

The committee has urged that nominations be sent as soon as possible to the Distinguished Alumna Award Committee, in care of Mary Washington College Alumnae Association, Box 1315 College Station, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401.

Chapter Notes

The Delaware Chapter entertained new and returning students and their mothers at a buffet luncheon on August 23, 1972 at the home of Margaret Marshall White '42. The next scheduled function will be a covered dish supper in January to which husbands are invited. The MWC chairs continue to be an income-producing project for the chapter. The new officers elected are: Barbara Upton Gravely '61, president; Donna Cannon Julian '69, vice president; Joyce Holloway Piper '49, secretary; and Dorothy Gravatt Hunter '51, treasurer.

* * * *

The recently organized Fairfax Chapter started a busy year on August 22, 1972 with a tea for incoming freshmen and transfer students at the home of Louise Luter Parker '40. I am sorry I had not returned from Spain in time to attend but from all accounts it was a very successful and lovely affair.

On Sunday, September 17, 1972 the chapter will honor President and Mrs. Simpson with a champagne brunch at the Country Squire in Seven Corners. At the brunch we will give each member a piggy bank and ask that she "feed the pig" during the year in hopes of meeting our pledge to Mary Washington College. On June 3, 1973 there will be a family luau (roasted pig and all) when we will break open the banks, count the money and hope to have reached our goal.

Our first big project of the year will be a boutique at Tyson's Corner October 19-20 under the direction of Betty Fischer Gore '49. Our goal is to make enough money to carry the chapter's running expenses for the year.

Lighted candelabrum and a centerpiece of pompons were the setting for the Colgate Darden Chapter's reception and tea for the returning students and freshmen of the Southampton County area on August 16 at the Cypress Cove Country Club.

Among our guests were the Honorable Colgate Darden and Mrs. Darden, a number of students, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Ray Merchent from the College. Mr. Merchent, Director of Admissions, spoke to the group during their business meeting about the academic life of the students today compared to those of the past and shared with us some of the major changes to take place in the College in the future. Mr. Darden spoke briefly about the College in general.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held at the club on November 4 at 2:00 p.m. At that time we will have a card party-fashion show after a brief business meeting.

Irene Lundy Brown '39 and Glaria Langley Parker '66, both of Newport News, were named co-recipients of the 1972 Outstanding Alumna of the Year Award presented by the Peninsula Chapter, Mary Washington College Alumnae Association.

In ceremonies earlier this year, Ronda Ellis Smith '64, president of the Chapter, presented each lady with an engraved plaque and praised them for their outstanding contributions and personal dedication given to the local chapter throughout the year. As the guest speaker at the luncheon, Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr. of Fredericksburg, Professor Emeritus of Education and former Dean of Mary Washington College, paid special tribute to Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Parker and to all alumnae working diligently to promote the College and the Alumnae Association.

The 1971-72 Alumnae Fund Report

The College joins the Alumnae Association in extending sincere gratitude and appreciation to those friends who contributed to and worked for the 1971-72 Alumnae Fund campaign.

Such support is vital in maintaining the further development of existing programs and ensuring a continuance in seeking new ways to make the liberal arts education one of excellence.

However, as the need grows greater, contributions decreased for the second year. This decrease is contrary to a national trend in both dollar amounts and participation.

Total contributions to the 1971-72 Fund amounted to $25,895.78 as compared to the previous year's total of $27,416.63.

The 1971-71 total reflects gifts from 1,579 contributors. During the 1970-71 campaign gifts from 1,908 total contributors were received.

In the area of Alumnae participation there was also a decline. During the Fund drive ending June 30, 1972 13.6 percent of the Alumnae contributed. During the previous year's campaign gifts were received from 17.8%.

It is interesting to note that while all other figures show a decrease, the average alumna gift rose from $13.19 to $14.07.

Both the College and the Alumnae Association are confident that in this new era for Mary Washington College, support from the many friends will heighten.

Total (1,579 contributors)	$25,895.78
Total unrestricted gifts	$23,259.28
Total restricted gifts	$ 2,636.50
Gifts from 1,507 alumnae individuals	$20,529.28

Hello Classmates!

Thinking back to Homecoming in April. Will begin here as Elsie Wood Rice has written that she was the lone representative of the Class of 1915. I regretted that I couldn't join her. Surely thought that Virginia Bolen would make it, but she was involved in a banquet for the Fire Department and was needed to work. Elsie thoroughly enjoyed some older girls from the classes of 1913, 1914 and 1922. They ate and attended the general meeting together. They didn't lack for much chatter, catching up with all news.

As I couldn't make Homecoming, I went to Kilmarnock to a Fifth Distnct meeting of United Daughters of the Confederacy and had a pleasant day on Saturday.

Virginia Bolen visited her brother in May, so we got together and went over near Lorne, Virginia on U.S. Route 301 and visited Virginia Saunders ('18) and Fannie Hiter Bowie.

People have accused me lately of being a "gadabout", which I really am not, but several nice things happened to me this past spring. One was a weekend with a grandson, Bobby Joyner, and family at Cascade, Md. Bobby is in the Navy and making it his career. In August he and family left for a three year tour of duty in Hawaii. On Sunday, July 30, 1972 we had a reunion of his mother's family in his honor. Another highlight was the graduation of a granddaughter at William and Mary College in Williamsburg, where I sat for two hours in the hot sun. In April I joined the U.D.C. Tour to Sally Plantation near Chantilly, home of Richard Bland Lee. We were entertained at lunch by Mrs. Robertson, a U.D.C. member in Arlington. Here I was seated at the table next to Mrs. Gustavus Harrison. How many of you remember Mr. Gunyon? I am sure all older girls do.

Recently had a nice card from Lillian Waring Edwards. She writes now and then.

In June we had a nice get-together at "Snugly", Etiennette Brooddus Moore's summer home, and the event was written up in the Rappahannock Times. There were only a few from our class present. I shall write this as it appeared in the paper:

Miller Tavern News - Mrs. W. M. Moore

"Mr. and Mrs. William McKindree Moore entertained some of her Mary Washington College friends at their home, 'Snugly', June 22, 1972. Among those present were Mrs. Ruth Carter Vellines, Mrs. Bertha Scott Bass ('16), Mrs. Louise Carter Ward of Richmond; Mrs. Margaret Wayne Ransone and Miss Anne Murray ('25) of Hampton; Mrs. Edna Gibbs Hunter of Portsmouth; Mrs. Ashby Ransone Parker, Mrs. Dolly Kidd Sisson, Mrs. Tillie Haile Mann ('28), Mrs. Thelma Ellis Sutton ('21) and Miss Mary Snead ('14) of this area. Many from farther away and from Culpeper and Fredericksburg areas were prevented from attending by the early rising of flood waters. Miss Lise Overstreet and Mac were also with us.

Among recent guests of the Moores at Snugly" were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie D. White and granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Maxwell of Richmond."

Our group was saddened by the sudden death of Isabel Willis Rowe ('13). She had planned to be with us at "Snugly" on the 22nd of June.

From the Alumnae Office I received news of the death of Ruth Clarkson Reeves. Our sympathy to any surviving relatives of Ruth and Isabel.

The Alumnae Association has already scheduled the next Homecoming for April 13-15, 1973. I wish to emphasize that the response in dues has not been as great as formerly and we should support the Association's efforts. I think everyone enjoys the news and other information. Money is needed for the job. I hope my class will be more generous in 1973.

We regret to lose Ann Perinchief as Director of Alumnae Affairs. She has done a great job.

In one of Elsie's letters in May, 1972, she said son Mason and wife had spent their vacation in Florida and had a great time. Jimmy's wife stayed with her while the folks were away. Elaine, Jimmy's wife, had just graduated from MWC. She was planning to meet Jimmy in Hawaii for his R&R vacation. Jimmy will be leaving Vietnam in August of this year. I know all will be happy to have him home again.

Edna's letter had news of her six week visit with her girl and family in Florida at Indian Harbor Beach. January weather was warm, sometimes in the 80's. Folks were swimming and enjoying the beach which was only two blocks away.

My granddaughter and family moved in with us in June from Blacksburg. Her husband is already at work on his new job as a consultant civic engineer designer and my granddaughter, Gwendolyn Ruth, will be teaching the third grade this year in Heodon County. I enjoy their little daughter of three years. Their home is in the process of construction.

Recently saw Mildred Brooking from Montpelier Va. She gave me news of Sophie Brooking who lives alone in Front Royal. She seems to be in better health now. Ruby Brooking Newman had recently died after having suffered several strokes. She leaves a son and daughter.

Had a recent letter from Grace Beazley ('16), who is recuperating nicely from her recent operation. She reported that her doctor said she was in fine condition. So glad to hear this.

I do appreciate all the nice things girls from different classes say about my column in the Alumnae News. So glad some find interesting items.

On August 31st a group of MWC girls from the various classes of 1913-1926 met at Avery's Restaurant in Tappahannock, Va. for lunch. There were 26 "girls" and three visitors. It was a most delightful occasion--much exchange of news and some reminiscing. After 47 years there had been changes, but each one radiated a glow that was contagious. We would like to do this again! Etiennette Brooddus Moore and I represented the class of 1915. Ada Nash Carlton ('17) carried us in her automobile from Richmond. Thanks to Etiennette for calling me and to Ada for transporting me. I feel indebted to Mildred Brown Rugland ('17) and husband for taking me to Ada's home so I could travel with her.

I think Imogen Ellis Daniel ('17) will give the names of all present so I shall not do this.

A letter from Elsie Wood Rice the last of August brought additional news. Carol, a granddaughter, will live with Elsie and son while her husband serves in Okinawa. They are delighted to have Jimmy home safely from Vietnam. Jimmy's family now are living near them. He will be stationed at Fort Belvoir and his wife, a 1972 graduate of MWC, will teach the third grade in Spotsylvania County. Sounds like a good arrangement.

Virginia Saunders ('18) has recently lost her last sister, Aston Gravatt, who once lived across the road from Virginia near Hanover Courthouse. Our sympathy to her and all surviving relatives.

We have enjoyed working as the class agent for 1915 with Ann Perinchief and wish her success in her new venture. I am sure that the relationship with Mrs. Diana Koski, the new director, will be equally as pleasant.

I note with sadness the death of Mrs. Eula Atkinson Johnston, one of my former teachers of whom I was very fond. Our sympathy to Mattie Mae, whom we knew at Fredericksburg.

Do let me hear from you and continue to write about yourselves.

Love,
Ruth

Have heard from the following since Homecoming: Effie Berry Fuqua twice, Lillie Michie Behrendt twice and Elizabeth Hoile Cloe. I took some pictures of our class and sent them to each classmate who came. They were thanking me for sending the pictures. Elizabeth said Josephine Spindle had spent a weekend with her which she thoroughly enjoyed. She also said she had planned to attend the MWC girls' picnic at the home of Ettienette Brooddus Moore ('15), but due to the flood caused by Agnes she was unable to go. I too had my lunch all prepared, but was advised not to attempt it. I heard that a number from around Hampton, Tappahannock, and those close were there and reported an enjoyable time. I wish some of the rest of you would follow suit with Michie and Effie and let me hear from you. I sent Mr. and Mrs. B. Y. Tyner the booklet of our class, pictures I took, and one of the souvenir tiles I painted-with Russell Hall on it to give to each member attending. I got a nice long letter from them and from the way they wrote, I really think they appreciated them. They said how sorry they were to miss the picnic at Snugly. She said it was hard to keep up with the nieces--some doing farther study and some on trips abroad. They have to study their maps to keep up with them. She also mentioned several marriages among their closest friends.

Effie sent me a clipping from the Cape Charles paper which told of the death of Pearl Powell Smith on Sunday, July 2, in Riverside Hospital after a long illness, at the age of 74. She was a native of Hampton, taught in the Hampton School System a number of years, and was retired in 1966 as assistant principal in Cape Charles, having taught there for nearly 30 years. Effie also wrote that their grandson, Harry II, surprised them with a visit. He was being transferred from Pensacola, Fla., to a place in Mississippi to learn to be a jet pilot.

Rachel Messick Buchan lost her only brother, Walter, on August 9th. He had been ill for five weeks or more. Please write to her.

I am expecting Michie to pay me a visit sometime in the very near future. Please write me some news for the next issue.

Love,
Imogen

Olivia Wheeler McCallum is now the grandmother of a darling little boy with red hair named Charles Falconer McCallum, III, and called "Cory". He was born July 5, 1972, and weighed 9 lbs. and 7 ozs. at birth.

Thelma Evans Douthat has moved from Petersburg to Greenbush, Va., her home town. Her second son is Dean of Men at Duke University and is working on his Ph.D. degree.

Ruby Lee Norris Norris received her master's degree in Humanities. She is on the staff of the Humanities Center in Richmond.

Frances Curtis Smith Proferes' daughter, Anita, is a freshman at Westhampton College. Frances Curtis has bought a condominium home in Williamsburg.

Dorothy McGuire Bunch's son is a student at Lynchburg College, and her daughter attends Maury High School. Dorothy has invited us to have a reunion at her cottage at Sandbridge, Va. next summer. Write her at 5929 Glenhaven Circle, Norfolk 23508, if you think you can come. The date will be determined by the time convenient to the most of us, so please state the best date for you. It sounds like fun, and thank you for the invitation, Dorothy.

Susie Dickinson Hudson's younger daughter is a student at Auburn University. I'm sorry I lost the notes I had from our chat on the telephone this summer, Susie.

A long mimeographed letter came from Page and Emil Hladky last Christmas. Emil was hospitalized in October and November, 1971. Stephen, the older son, came from England in June, 1971, for a five week visit. He has now received his Ph.D. degree from Cambridge University. He had a fellowship from the Beit Founiation, which sponsors primarily medical-related research, and also a fellowship from Churchill College of Cambridge University. Stephen graduated from Colby College in June, 1971.

Page telephoned me in June to say Emil had had a stroke April 1. He is improving, and they were in Nova Scotia this summer to see the eclipse.

My second daughter, Pam, was married July 29th to Richard Lyle Thompson. They are living in Gladehill, Va., and plan to move to Blacksburg in January where Richard will be a student at VPISU.

I've been writing class news for a long time—even to announcing at our 20th reunion the expected arrival of another son or daughter. He celebrated his fourteenth birthday September 6th and is a junior at Hampton High School. He only lacks one-half inch of reaching his dad's height of 6 feet, 4½ inches.

Please send in some news about yourself and family. Forgive me for not getting in the last issue of MWC Today the letter list of news I had then. "Bill" McCallum continues to be an inspiration to me as she has been since I roomed with her in Frances Willard in 1934-35.

Love,
Ethel

We are so proud to have Irene Lundy Brown as vice rector on the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors who were appointed by Governor Linwood Holton this summer. Irene has been a most outstanding, loyal alumna for these past 33 years. She is a living example of loyalty to her alma mater.

In the last letter of the alumnae news we asked for suggestions from you for our 35th reunion in 1974. Not a single soul has responded. Do we want to have our 35th reunion? Bernice Whipple Camp will be reunion chairman for our class. She needs and expects our cooperation. I am expecting Bernice and Bob to visit us on their way to Florida this fall. She hopes to begin working on plans for the only 35th reunion we will ever have. Your ideas and suggestions are needed.

Many pleasant memories linger from a lovely summer. The Peter Francisco reunion was held on the hottest day of the year, but the shade trees were a blessing, plus the bounty of food that showed up vividly on TV. My garden has produced abundantly. Becky was at the University of Richmond summer school and her usual help was missed.

Doris Stagg Pruden called recently and hopes to visit us in October if her husband is able. Mary Helsabeck Townsend wrote while nursing her sister, Katie, who had a back injury. Mary Williamson Bowles Hartley appreciated the sympathy card from us upon the death of her husband.

This is short because I have not heard your news to put in. I would appreciate some interest and response from you.

Hello all,

Until the very last moment I thought there would be no news, then Madge Matthews Jones saved the day. Madge writes:

"The first of April I retired from my job and took off on an around the world trip. Didn't take a tour, but went on my own, alone, and visited about 25 different countries. My tours were so interesting and so varied, including a week on a houseboat in Srinagar, a tour of the Holy Land, an African safari, a cruise of the outer islands of Greece. I saw the Taj Mahal by moonlight, sunrise over Mount Everest, the Pyramids, and the Acropolis in Athens. I visited with a Japanese family as well as a Chinese family; I saw the floating markets of Thailand, Mt. Fuji, Hong Kong, Turkey, Greece, Spain and Portugal. Met worlds of interesting people, quite a few of whom I correspond with now, and will have some of them visiting me in the very near future.

Almost reluctantly, I returned to the States on July 1st, and now I am packing to go on a three month trip out West by car. I do recommend retirement, and I hope to do even more traveling in the years to come.

I could talk of my trip for hours without stopping, but I'm sure that would be TOO MUCH, but thought that you might like to know that I was able to take this marvelous trip. Going alone has its disadvantages, what with making reservations, converting currency, planning sightseeing, etc., but it has many advantages that I'm convinced make it the way for me to go."

Madge lives at 3221-A Eagle Blvd., Orlando, Fla. 32804, but you will have to be quick to catch her if she is wearing her traveling shoes.

My mail this summer has been the best in a long while. Keep up the good work!

Many of you will remember Willye Evans, the older gal who spent her senior year on campus. Can you believe she is 65 years old, well and happy and most grateful for her life's opportunities! Willye returned to college after her parents' deaths and graduated in Primary Education. She taught in Richmond and Franconia, Fairfax Co., retiring at 70. She "taught Kindergarten (Hortown—her home) until there were no more children of kindergarten age to teach; they don't multiply in country towns as in urban centers." She has coached, been active in state WCTU and aided in writing a book about it, worked in her local church and been organist, sponsored a dramatic group for Christmas and Easter pageants. It is simply marvelous to hear from Willye. We wish her many more years of active happiness and hope she will be able to come to our 30th reunion!

Virginia Johnson Moeller was at Homecoming '72 and made several suggestions. She then wrote them to the Alumnae Office, was asked to serve on the Homecoming Committee this year and accepted. We are delighted and pleased that she did. Their 22 year old son, Kirk, is in Ft. Grede, Alaska in the service. Their daughter Karen, 21, is by now in Calif. to work and "hopefully to attend college." Younger daughter Kristie, 15, is a high school junior. "It was great attending Homecoming and seeing people again after all these years." Please send any suggestions for a happy 30th to her at 611 Jamestown Rd., Hyattsville, Md. 20782.

JUST ARRIVED—and take it from her how great it is. Plan to come APRIL 13-15, 1973!

The class of '43 can be extremely proud again of one of our daughters—Monita Washington Fontaine, daughter of Donna Shearer and L. W. Fontaine—the 1972-73 Executive Chairman of the MWC student body. I had a great and heartwarming letter from Donna who said Monita is graduating in 3 years and will "be a Devil like us!" She is seeking information, as are several of us, about Eleanor "Nickie" Nicholson Knight. We have good reason to believe she has passed away but no facts. Can you help? Donna is teaching in elementary school; her husband is a retired Air Force officer and their son Lawrence graduated from high school this year. She regrets she won't be able to come to the reunion since she will come in May for Monita's graduation this year for the first time since 1949 (when she and I went to Homecoming). It is so exciting to receive a letter and have 30 years drop away!

From Ruth "Fergie" Ferguson McClung comes another letter that she and her "precious husband" Mac have been transferred to Berryville and requesting that we give her new address—107 Rosemont Circle, 22611—so her friends will know where she is. They love it in "this beautiful Byrd town in the lovely Shenandoah Valley." Their daughter Ann is a senior at Randolph Macon and son Wally is a sophomore at Clark County High. Fergie is not teaching this year and misses it.

Barbara Beebe writes that recently she lost her father, at 91 years of age. Our sympathy to her; this comes to all of us at some time. So she and her dog are rambling around in a 14 room house. However, her brother lives nearby. She is a "doting aunt" to her niece and nephew and their 2 offspring. Now that her responsibility is over, she is definitely planning to come from Conn. for our 30th reunion.

PLEASE BE SURE you have returned your reunion questionnaire so we may have up-to-date information on you! Homecoming dates HAVE CHANGED—April 13-15, 1973. We need to be together as much as possible—like the same motel. Last year many stayed at the Holiday Inn. Make your plans NOW to attend and send your suggestions. IT WILL BE AS GOOD AS WE MAKE IT!

Within a week of each other (late in the spring), I received letters from Ruth Ludtke Scarbrough and Josephine Potts Coleman telling of their respective families' plans for European vacation trips. I wonder if by any chance they yodeled at each other in the Alps. Ruth is now food service mgr. at the Md. Rehabilitation Center. She also noted that her son, Ross, graduated from Staunton Military Academy and will attend Essex Community College. "Jo" enclosed a clipping from The Wilmington Journal describing Hildy Parks Cohen's work as the sole author of the 1972 Tony Awards television spectacular. Hildy has handled this show ever since its inception six years ago. Quite an assignment and accomplishment.

Fran Tracy has written to let us know that her visa troubles were solved and she is again among the Wapishanas to continue her Christian missions among the Indians.

I hope the summer has been good to everyone and that you will send any news in time for the next issue. Do keep planning for our 30th. I welcome any ideas and suggestions.

With each wonderful letter which arrives, I find myself battling restraint. I wish it was possible to sit down and answer each and every one individually and to pursue for details. Your response has been so great this summer that I am sure you will continue to give me in touch so that all our friends will be reunited through the printed page.

Kathryn Ryan Ryan has a grandson whose father is her oldest son, Bill. She also has two sons currently attending college at separate locations of the State University of New York, from which Bill graduated. Two more sons are still at home attending high school. Kathryn is very busy in civic beautification work through both Garden Club and the AAUW. Her city is undergoing urban renewal so the project is tremendous.

Lucy Anderson Bannister and family traveled across the country this year. They stopped in twenty states, visiting and sight-seeing. She saw or chatted with Jean Knott House, Cleveland, Miss., and Arlene Cassady Denardo, Mountain View, Cal., who is reported to have a son at Columbia University, another at the University of California, and another son yet at home.

Jean Boyce Carleton's oldest daughter married after graduating from college and her youngest daughter is now a junior at Skidmore. Jean's husband retired two years ago and they have recently purchased a condominium in Sarasota, Fla., where they plan to spend most of the winter months.

Jayne Haines Howard has filed for the office of lieutenant governor for the state of Washington. She is firm enough in her beliefs about women in government that she has taken this action. I am sure all our classmates wish her well in the world of politics.

Geraldine Harvey Richardson is head of the Business Education Department at Goochland High School and is studying for her master's degree at UVA. Her son, Jeffrey, attends Fork Union Military Academy, where he was valedictorian of the junior school last year.

Mary Baxter Cummings' sons are both at UVa this year. One is a freshman and the other a senior. She tells us that she recently saw Anne Tynes Seward.

As I read a letter from Anne Brauer Oxenham, it seems that there should be a correction made in the dictionary. Instead of a married daughter, Anna has a married son who has made her a grandmother. This oldest son is now at law school at UVA. Anna and her husband are planning a trip this fall to Rotterdam where they will board for a ten-day cruise down the Rhine River. The cruise will end in Switzerland, from which they will fly home. What a delightful switch of routine from the usual European vacation!

Jone Cleeland Willis and family did take their cross-country trip in a travel trailer this summer. They spent a month touring the West. By the time you read this, Jane will have been off to Hawaii and the Fiji Islands with her sister.

Another Hawaiian tripper among our classmates is Barbara Good Lampe. She and her husband spent three weeks there on this summer, but the big attraction of the trip was their son's wedding which took place in Hawaii.

Betty Fulk Strider saw her oldest son off to the College of William and Mary this fall. The other two boys are still at home.

Another wedding this summer was that of Virginia Pinchbeck Covington's son. Ginny and her family spent some time in the north woods of Minnesota, where she reports that the mosquitoes are as "big as". She is starting a new job this fall—teaching second grade in a private school in Richmond.

My family seems to have really compressed this fall, with my son back at Indiana University, my oldest daughter a freshman at MWC, and only two girls left at home. We spent as much time as possible on the river this summer, and consequently, the boat had many hours logged on it.

Would any of you possibly know anything about the following classmates? If so, please help me to locate and get in touch with them.

Lou Alice Hill Adams
Doris Jean McCullough Alford
Helena Ann Feazier Amunds
Dorothy Lane Atwater
Beverly Bowen Baker
Rose Cooney Belsher
Sallie Booker Crowell Bendall

Thank you all for so many gems of news. The next deadline is January 2, 1973. This means you can include a few lines on a December greeting card. Many wishes for a fine set of fall and winter holidays to each and every one of you.

Marie Payne Wright is joining the Baltimore Alumnae Chapter and representing it at the Women's Alumnae Club Council. During the summer, she visited with Betty Forsythe Somers.

Norma Edwards Tyler and family vacationed at Jeckyll Island, Ga. She keeps busy at home with PTA work.

Jeanne Farrington Leslie's husband, Mike, made a business trip to Japan and Germany. Her oldest daughter starts at Kirkland College in N.Y. Second daughter Susan is senior high class president. Jeanne enjoyed a visit from Leona Hall Howard's oldest son who was hitchhiking the northeast.

Frances Houston Layton and family are spending three months in Cambridge, England with a student group from Hampton College in Ohio, where her husband is a professor.

Virginia Jones McKie lives in Dallas, Texas, where she says an alumnae chapter is starting! Her oldest daughter is a junior at Sweet Briar and is spending the year in France. She says she is turning gray. Wait until she sees the rest of us.

Joan Dunean Lowe and family took a month long camping trip, including Atlantic City, Nova Scotia and Vermont. Son Mike is attending Santa Fe Jr. College near home. Joan is a school librarian in "closed school", which means busing to achieve integration.

Frances Malone enjoyed a trip to Biloxi, Miss. for the Sugar Bowl game. She enjoys riding around on a 10 speed bike and is very active in NOW, a women's lib organization.

Mary Ann Godsey Little has a first grader and enjoys sewing and refinishing furniture.

Charlotte Baylis Koffenberger is sending her only daughter to MWC this year. She also has a four-year-old son. Chip, 17, is a high school senior and on the football team. George enters jr. high. She and the children spent the whole summer at Ocean City, N.J. They are all excellent water skiers and sailors. Charlotte enjoys the Wilmington Alumnae Chapter and the AAUW, in which she is second vice president.

Lucretia Vance Gilmer retired in 1970 from her job as a research chemist for the Tennessee Eastman Co. Later, she enjoyed writing and publishing a newsletter for her local Methodist church. She and her husband attend each Sunday School. She has the young adults. At home she does canning, sewing, knitting, crocheting, macrame, and home decorating trips have also been included the Rocky Mts., Niagara Falls, the Catskills, and Fla.

Mildred Vance Secular keeps house in Wheaton, Md., and exhibits some of her original paintings.

Andi Dulaney Devening works as Registrar at the School of Business at UVA. She is also working slowly toward a master's in Counseling. Her oldest son is a third year student at the Med. Col. of Va. Dental School. Another son is a senior at UVA, and the third begins at the U. of Miss. Two of the boys spent five weeks in Europe this summer.

Doris Norman Carter, who has two boys in college, sees Andi often in Charlottesville. Andi would love for any of you to stop and visit her.

Barbara Hutton Barden has a summer home in N.H. Andi and tribe were invited up for a whole month.

Iroia Whitlow Westbrook has a daughter starting at William and Mary with a scholarship.

Betty Gilmer Coyner has a horse farm in S.W. Virginia. She is a guidance counselor in the local junior high and expects to receive a master's degree in that field this fall. She and her husband spent last Christmas in Russia!

Connie Conley Stuart was seen on the Dick Van Dyke Show. Sure wish I had her address.

Betty Bond Heller Synan's oldest daughter, Cathy, is majoring in archaeology at Florida State University. Her 16 year old son plays bass guitar in a high school rock band. Can't you hear him accompanying his mother? She also has Ann, age 5, who is taking piano already.

Barbara Green Connell and family are running a small resort of housekeeping cottages on Parker Lake near the Wisconsin Dells. Anybody want to go?

Eloine Schuhler Synhorst's husband, who is career Navy, earned a master's degree in International Relations. Maybe there is hope for peace yet. They have two children in college. Another is a cheerleader in high school, and the youngest is entering junior high.

Erminia Ubaldi Kauer vacationed at the Outer Banks of N.C., then took the bridge tunnel to Virginia's eastern shore where they stopped to visit Liz Barnes Hornsby. Erminia is a librarian at the Dupont Co.'s Savannah River Project.

Jean Willis Standing lives in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Anne McCaskill Libis sold two horses and a horse trailer this spring and bought a 17 foot canoe instead. Our vacation was spent in the canoeing country at Algonquin Park, Ontario, Canada. On our way home, we spent an exciting day-and-a-half with Peggy Elliott Sweeney, sailing and canoeing in the "vacationland" where they live. Our daughter Claudia, 16, spent her vacation in Northern Ireland. She especially enjoyed an international church camp on the northern coast.

I am thrilled with your response to my letter! However, I notice that none of you wrote on recycled paper. We all need to improve our environment.

Well, the summer is over and we should be in our regular routines now, with the children back at school and the older ones back at their jobs. Some of our class traveled quite far.

Mim Sullivan Weisiger and family were on the road for about 30 days traveling from Houston to Calif. and back—seeing all the sights. She said they covered 6500 miles and stayed in 19 motels. Visited Yellowstone, Jackson Lake, Salt Lake, and Disneyland, to mention a few. While in Calif., she had a reunion with Nat Wilson who misses our Disneyland area. Mim, by the way, is now back living in New Providence, N.J., as Earl was transferred back to the N.Y. Office of Esso.

Our family spent a good summer on Cape Cod. With the boys getting older, the time seems to go so fast. Bill (13) spent most of his time tuning his "cool" boat in Cape Cod Bay and Jimmy, almost 5, who is doing pretty well at his swimming attempts, just liked paddling around in the water. Also took a trip to Montreal where we visited their underground stores, and on the way home stopped at Mt. Sunapee, N.H. and took a ride on the top on the gondola est.

Carol Bailey Miller announces the birth of a new filly on April 21. She said it's the first foal they've had in a long time and they're really enjoying her—named Skip's Booty. She and Bill got tired of the snow, etc. in Ft. Jo, and took a spontaneous trip to St. Thomas. Said it was great. Guess her area in Leesburg was hit quite badly by hurricane Agnes, but they were fortunate to not have severe damage as they are on a hill.

Glad to report that Charlotte Leonard Wilder is back at the job again after some hospitalization this spring. Can't keep a good gal down! Hear that Carmen Zepenfehlt Cotani has made her move back to Puerto Rico from Spain.

Wans to congratulate Virginia Felts Brown who was elected to the Board of Directors of the Alumnae Assoc. for a 3 year term.

The Alumnae Association needs our support in many ways. Have you been doing your share? I also need your help. Have you written me some news recently?

Greetings and Salutations!

Dad used to say this to one and all on the occasion of family gatherings, and somehow it seems apropos of the mood of our recent reunion. Wasn't it just like family and old times with so many of us being together after so long? We missed those of you who could not be there and certainly do hope you will be able to make it in '77 for our 25th.

Our group of 37 youthful looking "39 year olds" included the following:

Alice Parsons Beanett, who came all the way from Seattle, Wash.; Bunny Fawthrop Eubank and Mary Lotham Pinson from Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla., respectively; Anne Crewe Derry, Jupiter, Fla.; Margaret Green, Selma, Ala.; Elizabeth Bennington Smith, Boone, N.C.; Mary Lou Finney Boyd, Stevensville, Md.; Shirley Bowman Stitt, Chestertown, Md.; and Claire Sims Braun, Morris Plains, N.J. This group came from scattered points across Virginia: Dorothy Brady Craig, Jane Hardman Marshall, and Harriet Hodges Mohler from Charlottesville; Edwina Moss Apostle, Winchester; Phoebe Wilson Sherwood, Penn Laird; Gwen Lavery Cumming, Hampton; Charlotte Adams Harrell, Mary Ann Jones Beard, Jean Amis Hill, and Dorothy Maynard Sweet, all in Norfolk; Shirley Grant Buchanan, Portsmouth; Suzanne Brannor Kessler, Richmond; Susan Hutcheson Jurgens, Louisa; Betty Linton Kilgour and Anne Caffey Colby, Purcellville; Betsey Stump Motley, Roanoke; Jean Jones Thacker, Amherst; and Nancy Moxley Stone, Elk Creek. In addition to the above came the "metropolitan area" contingent: Anne Ann Smith Harman, Pat Riley Harris, and Betty Jefferson Blaisdell from Fairfax; Frances Ann Bold and Jerry Foley Crouch, Falls Church; Elaine Hyatt Hamilton and Ann Gaines Louisell, Springfield; Claire Sindlinger deGroot and Elizabeth Stevens Mills, Alexandria; and yours truly from Rockville, Md. Sandra was unwell and couldn't make it, which was disappointing and quite unusual as you have never seen. Of course the 104 children in question have got to be the best looking, most talented children going!

Aside from the joy of catching up with everyone and the pleasure of drifting with the deepening nostalgia that wafted across that always classically beautiful campus on a perfect spring day as you could wish, one was acutely and simultaneously aware of change and continuity of the old and familiar, as in separable as the two sides of a coin, and one had to be grateful for and to respect the efforts of those dedicated to meeting the challenge of maintaining MWC as a viable one of learning and the personal development of the whole individual for the youth of today. This is a challenge of many facets and great magnitude and affords each of us a chance to help. We are in a favorable position in this respect, with one of our classmates having been appointed to the Board of Visitors. Congratulations, Gwen Amory Cumming! We are very proud of and pleased for you and ask that you call on us to help you and MWC.

A nice letter from Anne Smith Harman brought news of Jayne Dance Powell (Mrs. William). She and her husband, a Ph.D. teaching at the University of Ga., and their four boys, Bill, 18, Steve, 17, Timmy, 13, and Scotty, 9, are living in Athens, Ga.

Another "lost" person has been found. Helen Bagley Schroeder (H.B.) is living in Wilmington, Del. By next issue I hope to have more news of her.

We have been notified of several address changes. Charlotte Wilkinson Larson is now in Culpeper, Mary Ives Crocker Ball in Richmond, and Evelyn Roeder Bagwell at a new address in Vienna, where she has been living for some time. Joan Britten Lucas moved to Vacaville, Calif. Joyce Lamb Mellon changed her Newport News address, and Carolyn Cooper Gillespie is now in Bethesda, Md. Hope these travelers will let us know how things are going for them in their new surroundings.

Have any of you decided to go back to school? Alice Parsons Bennett has. After a long hot summer of helping her daughter Barbara, 16, through spinal surgery and its long recuperation period, complete with brace and limited activities, Alice has taken on a full schedule of secretarial classes.

After this first attempt at maintaining the high standards of reporting set by Phoebe, Nancy, Nancy, and Betsy before me, I think I'd best follow Alice's example! Bear with me, please, and I'll try to report the news as I get it. In other words, now that the children are back in school, how about a note to me while you have that second cup of coffee or whatever? I'd love to hear of and tell all about your summer doings.

Take care and write soon,
Marilyn (Lynne)

Hi!

The children are back in school so hurry to the stove or counter and fill your tea cup, drag up a chair, and visit with me and the MWC news for awhile. Just let the pre-schoolers play with their favorite toys or let them take a nap so you can really relax. Here we go. . . .

Barbara Timmons Dempsey lives in Hartwood with her husband and two daughters, Tamara Lynn, 12, and Jodi Lynn, 4. Barbara has been slaving away in an economics class this summer. Perhaps she would make a good person to send to Washington to solve all the nation's economic problems. Want to try it, Barbara? She is planning to teach 5th grade in Stafford County this winter so by the time you see this, Barbara will be teaching. Her husband is a supervisor for Vepco and likes to fish in his spare time. He is also fire chief at the Hartwood Fire Station. Perhaps he doesn't have very much time for lazy day fishing after all. Barbara says she is coaching Little League Girls too . . . and likes to sew and play tennis. Bet you are in good shape, Barbara. Come to Homecoming next year and let your classmates see your family. Perhaps we can see your coaching ability put to the test sometime. Any one who live near Barbara, please plan to attend a game or two and give her moral support.

Ann Sullivan Parker, or "Sally" as we used to call her during our college days, lives in Salisbury, Maryland, with her forester husband and three children. Brad is 12, Scott, 14, and Wendy, 16. Sally is also teaching this year. She is an early childhood-kindergarten teacher. She, too, has been back in the schoolroom as she received her M.E. in May from Salisbury State College. She has been spending the summer working as a consultant for Girl Scout Day Camp and has been running a private taxi service for three very active children. . . pardon me, three active teenagers. I wonder if she and Ace got away for a week or so on that luxurious vacation or not. You'll have to let us know. Her daughter has been working as a life guard at a local private pool. Scott backpacked at Philmont Scout Reservation in New Mexico for three weeks and Brad went to Boy Scout Camp for a week. Ace is a manager for Boys Little League . . . and coaches Red Skinhed Football. Let us know how your winter turns out, Sally.

Had a long letter from Anne McCann Collier and this is what she has to say: "This summer the Navy is transferring Bill from his job as Chief, Warehousing, in Defense Depot, Mechanicsburg, Pa., to the job of Supply Officer of the 7th Fleet Staff, based in the ship Oklahoma City, at Yakosuka, Japan." She and her family visited with relatives in Virginia before taking off for California. They left for Hawaii July 22. They spent four days in Pearl Harbor before going directly to Japan. Anne will be in Japan for two years and feels that their three children are old enough to really appreciate this opportunity. Bill, 16, Mary Frances, 13, and John, 8, will have many wonderful tales to tell upon their return to the States, won't they? Any classmate in Japan might want to welcome Anne and family by getting in touch with her. Good luck, Anne, and keep in touch. Would love a letter from Japan!

Those of you who live in Hampton should keep looking towards the ocean and lakes and perhaps you will see Barbara Valley Sarrett, her obstetrician husband and four youngsters sailing. Barbara has been taking a racing sailing course at the Yacht Club and has been cruising the New England area. Good for you, Barbara. Wish I had the time to do something like that, and may be one day I will. Barbara plays tennis when sailing season is over. Barbara went to the Bahamas this past February with her family and they had fun sailing and surfing. Keep up good fun sailing races.

Life is always full of activities here in Franklin. We enjoy a variety of activities and I stay on the go most of the time. We had our second chapter meeting in August and had the Colgate Dardens as honored guests at our tea with the returning students and freshmen at MWC as special guests. Now I am in the midst of getting together a fashion show for the next meeting.

If any of you come near or through Franklin, please stop and say "Hello." We'd love to have you. Norvel is ready to entertain the golfers and I'll entertain the children and YOU.

Happy fall to you,
Kay

I received a letter from Judith Daniels Donahue. She's back with us after 16 years! Judith's husband, George, is a dentist and they live in Peabody, Mass., with their five children. Some of you might remember George since he and Judith were dating at MWC. Judith hopes to join in some of the activities of our Boston Chapter this year.

Thanks to Kay Nelson Richardson we have some news from our 15th reunion. She reports that there were only 15 of us present too! Here goes- - - - - -

Foscie Lowrence Williamson probably had more news and keeps up with more people than anyone. She reports: Sidney Cowles is now Mrs. Ted Hoople. Her husband is in charge of educational development at Syracuse University. Judy Boll has bought her home and keeps a German Shepherd for company. Barbara Zimmer Neeley lives at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington where she is in charge of renting executive suites for conventions. Astoor Loddenground Clough is living in York, Pa. Dottie Scott Hardy is a substitute teacher in Roanoke. Her husband is principal of the Vocational High School there. Ann Culpepper Martin has four children. Her husband is a neuro-surgeon. They lost half their house in the big hurricane of 1970. Jackie McDaniel Pilkenton is now a full time teacher of learning disability children. Libby Fordham has received her M.Ed. from George Mason University. Helen Grantz Fortner, husband, and four children are living in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, where they both work for the American Embassy.

Besides Foscie and Kay, the following attended the reunion: Libby Fordham, Jo Markwood Blue, Nancy Bracken Booker, Catherine Wright Gadd, Barbara Cnfz Grantz, Joanne Insley Pearre, Susan Bendel Rose, Peggy Gray Williams, Joyce Bristow Wrestler, Mary Montague Hudson Sikes, Sheile Foley Reeder, Barbara Leonard Colonell, and Mary Lamb Belknap Gibson.

Meg Petten Bland writes that she is working on her M.Ed. in Special Education. Her husband is still with NASA.

Barbara Stanton Heine's husband was honored as the Illinois Editor-of-the-Year for 1971. He is the editor of the weekly Oak Park Leaves. He is a leader in the field of human relations.

The Guest boys have recovered from their broken limbs and both were All-Stars for their baseball teams. Now we are into football. Their mother is still not as spry as she used to be but they tell me it is my age!

Let's have some news from some of you who haven't been heard from in 15 years! The next issue has to be in by January.

Hello!

Phone calls save my life! This time from Kay Martin Britto. She had been to Washington for dinner at Anne DePorry McGrath's. Bernice Branson Gilfillan was there visiting also. Bernice and Robin were on vacation from their home in Johannesburg, South Africa. It seems to me that Bernice's vacation sounds like an advertisement from a travel agency– first to South America to see her mother, second to Vienna, Va., to visit her brother, then onward to London, Geneva, Brussels, a tour of Europe, and in Athens they are to meet friends who are flying in from Africa. They plan to rent a yacht and tour the Greek islands. After a week at the French Riviera, they will return home. The Gilfillans have 4 children. The two older boys are in boarding school, with a boy and girl still at home. For outside work Bernice and several friends cater a businessmen's luncheon club one week. These are "many courses" type meals and they strive for little duplication of menus.

Kay says finally she has finished her library science requirements. It is all full she will be librarian at St. John's Vianey School just west of Richmond.

I received a note from Ann Geoghegan Cheshire. Bill has changed jobs and they now are living in Raleigh, N.C. She has spent the summer packing, selling the house, and moving. Like many other classmates are moving. I have received 32 changes of address since April.

The Chapmans had a terrific vacation. We went west to Yellowstone, then to Tacoma and Seattle, Wash. It was fun sight-seeing from the top of the Space Needle. Rodney enjoyed the salmon fishing. He had his salmon canned to bring home. On the way home we visited Custer's Last Stand. Why Custer ever thought he could beat all those Indians, I'll never know. No wonder he was knocked in his graduating class from West Point. We stayed in Rapid City to see Mt. Rushmore in the rain! We enjoyed every minute of the trip. The highways are so good that with an air-conditioned car it is easy to drive 700-800 miles a day.

April 27-29 will be Alumnae Weekend this year. I hope you can make plans to be there sometime on Saturday.

I have a new missing person–Charlotte Greey Christy. The last address I have is Greenfield, Wis. If anyone knows her address, please send it.

Let us hear from you. You don't have to have real exciting news. I love to discuss the soap operas, my favorite pastime outside of Brownies, Sunday School, PTA, Garden Club, bridge club, car pools, sewing–we all do the same things.

Hello again! Not much news this time, but will pass on what I have. Will be looking forward to those newsy Christmas cards.

Missed "Pug" Shipmon Kaufman this summer. She was on her annual excursion through Mobile, stopping for some seafood on the way home to Gautier. We'll make it next time!

Received two postcards from Ann Brooks Papadatos. One, just before she left for her visit with in-laws in Greece, and one during her stay. Having a wonderful time as usual. They are going to have to give that pink special rates on the airlines before long!

Lois Geylord Allen is still anxiously awaiting the arrival of an adopted family. What with the pill and abortions, there aren't as many children available as there used to be, it seems. And out-of-wedlock children are also "in". So, I can imagine the Allens' anxiety. May be their luck will change before long. Bet she is keeping busy as president of the local association, plus teaching and counseling, and "Gay" is continuing to work teaching night school and doing psychological testing at a local private school. This summer they buzzed around to various places accompanied by their "globetrotter" dogs!

Julia Cootes Littlefield writes that she had a visit from her mother for three glorious weeks. They also had a recent reunion with Priscilla Brown Wardlaw and family. They came to Portland for a day and had a lobster and clam picnic. Pris is looking great and has new fine boys. The Littlefields have a new interest–camping. And Julia says it is a wonderful experience.

Guess you know we have celebrities in our class. Joan Whitremore South is on the Board of Visitors of MWC, and Carol Pridgen Gill is President of the Alumnae Association. I might add, on behalf of our class, I sent a remembrance and note of congratulations to Dr. Black on her retirement. I know many of you did the same since she was our class sponsor.

The Trudeaus? Finally made that trip to Europe. Talk about insult! I wasn't pinched one time. By anyone! Anywhere! Over the hill at thirty-five! Sob! Teaching first grade this year. Mobile always keeps you guessing.

Take care, everyone. Please keep in touch.

Love,
Edna

Cheres Amies!

Greetings from France—our new home! Bill and I have been spending the summer months attending intensive language training at the Institut de Francais at Villefranche-Sur-Mer, a lovely town on the French Riviera between Nice and Monaco. The school is HARD, TIRESOME work, but I love it. As a French major from MWC it is just fascinating to see how their system works here. I really recommend a month or two here to any of you who are looking for an interesting and profitable vacation. You'll learn to speak French!

In September we will move North to Lyon—France's second largest city and our new home. We will live in an apartment right in the middle of the city—with more than a million population—so that in itself ought to be quite a new experience. Marguerite and Annelise will go to a French school.

Yesterday I discovered that one of my colleagues at the Institut de Francais is a MWC grad. She is Carolyn Osborne Jenkins ('54). She has an antique shop in Brussels where she lives with her husband and two sons. In case you are shopping around Brussels, her shop is called Antiquest Unlimited and is located at 1302 Ch de Waterloo. I plan to look her up soon this fall. She loves living in Europe and wants to stay "a hundred years."

I hope I will soon be hearing from many of you—especially those who are now in Europe.

Joyful Greetings!

It is joyful to celebrate the borning of MWC as a separate institution. Congratulations to everyone who helped achieve this great goal. Now we must stand ever proud and give all the support we can to our grand alma mater.

It has been a delight to see our class news grow. The reunion, even a year-and-a-half in the past, did have an effect on us. More and more of us are renewing our friendships. Do you remember the old Girl Scout song, "Make New Friends"? Wow, those words really do ring true. "Make new friends, but keep the old. One is silver and the other gold." If you haven't contacted that old roomie or suitemate, do so now and you'll see what I mean.

Making the trip from her home in California to New York City with her husband Dick, who was on a business trip, was Ann Hopkins Burroughs. She visited with Lynne Williams, who entertained her by inviting Prudie Shepard and Renee Levinson over for dinner. Lynne wrote: "We had a great time; Renee is still fascinating and kept us all spellbound for hours with her great stories. She's doing a lot of voice-ins for commercials these days and is hoping for a good part in a summer stock play." Ann and Lynne enjoyed a nice reunion, and Ann even left some decorating help for Lynne to use in her apartment. Ann and Dick have a rambling ranch outside of Los Angeles with a pool. I know Darcy and Donny love that.

Prudie is taking the travel laurels away from Lynne now—Nassau, Europe to ski, Bermuda, etc. Lynne's vacation, planned for September, was a trip to Bangkok, Hong Kong and Hawaii. I guess it must be the weekend trips she feels Prudie is ahead on. Happy travels, gals! Remember to keep Janie Riles Wamsley and Bill in mind when you hit France.

Also getting up to the big city while her husband worked was Lloyd Tilton Backstrom. She stayed with Lynne as well. Lloyd enjoyed the galleries and the shopping and also got in a visit with Prudie Shepard one day for lunch. The Backstroms are still busy fixing up their Civil War era home. They did sneak in a week of skiing in Col. in March and Lloyd is still shaking her head over the strength of the sun out there. Sister Nancy lives in Denver, and Lloyd and Art were happy to make the christening of Nancy and John's son. Lloyd's sister, Lee Tilton ('63), resides and works in Richmond.

Having been sent down to Va. for the AAUW State President's Conference in June, I took in a quick trip to Richmond and spent a few hours with Lloyd, who took my aunt and me to lunch. Lloyd is still as cute as a button and just loves living in the country where she occasionally has to herd a lost cow out of her front yard. I missed seeing her husband, Art, this trip but they promise to come back to see us in Maine, so before long I'll be greeting them here.

Carolyn Crum Pannu caught me upto-date on some details about the Pannus. Singh has recently written an article on "Drugs" and one on "How to Set Up a Medical Practice" while practicing his eye surgery on a full time basis. Their children are Kara, 3½, and Raj Singh, age 2, both of whom completed a Red Cross recreational swimming class last summer. The Pannus were to move in July into their first home, a lovely country ranch. Carolyn is involved in a forestry stewardess club and is working on their fall fashion show. She is one model of whom we can surely be proud!

Having been elected to the presidency of the Maine Division of the AAUW in May and taking over the office in July, I have been one busy person. The women I've worked with so far have been so interesting and stimulating that my time is being well spent and I am certainly learning. We are "into" bringing women become more effective legislatively, the ever popular study of conservation, and trying to help stimulate conservation education within the public schools. The status of women is forever in our minds as well.

Having written to part of the list of gals in my card file, I have hopes of news from them. Come on now, y'all, please write. Wishing you all much joy and happiness.

Peggy

P.S. A lovely note from Becky McCoy Patrick ('60) has her residing in Mobile, Ala. While she and her husband were stationed in El Paso, Tex., they became friends with some friends of ours. Small world.

Hi Everyone,

Fall is upon us already; the summer passed all too quickly for me. It was a busy time and had its high and low points for our family. In early May my father suffered a stroke which left him quite ill, so my sister Linkey, brother Bobby and I all flew to his side at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C. for about 10 days until his condition stabilized. It was wonderful to have the whole family together, even under the circumstances. In June we had a most fun week while Andy's brother and family visited us in Ky. Then on June 30 (the same day Janie Riles Wamsley and family flew to France), Andy and I left for three weeks in Finland and Scandinavia! DuPont sent its good chemists (!) to the International Symposium on Macromolecules in Helsinki. We really were impressed with the city and the people of Finland. From there we visited Stockholm, Norway—the most spectacular country for scenic beauty—and ended our trip in Copenhagen, joined by my brother Bobby and his wife Pat who are stationed in Darmstadt, Germany with the Army. It was a marvelous trip away from the children, although we missed them after the first week! We've been back in Louisville less than three weeks when the news came that daddy had passed away on Aug. 9th, so another trip was made to the East Coast to be with mother. At his funeral at Ft. Myer, Va., I was so pleased to see Clara Sue Durden Ashley and Terence (with whom my son Michael and I had stayed in May) and Jean Ryon Farrell. I had expected to see Jean at West Point, N.Y., where she lives, because that's where daddy was buried, but they were in Washington visiting their families. The Farrells and Ashleys got together for an evening at Wolf Trap, near D.C.

Peggy's and Janie's columns were such fun to read in the August issue—sounds like your trip to India was one other MWC reunion, Peggy! Lucky Janie going to France to live—she finally can practice her French, on the French!

Oh. . . I almost forgot. Who do you think I sat with on the plane from Louisville to Baltimore in August? None other than Mary Harper Hargrove! I had been unsuccessful in trying to reach her since she phoned me in April, and we just couldn't believe we were on the same plane. She was on her way to Vt. for a 2 week vacation before returning to her part-time work as a researcher for Spalding College here in Louisville. She has just as much energy and enthusiasm as ever and it was a real pleasure to talk with her.

I received a nice letter from Barbie Upson Gravely recently, and she has become very involved with the AAUW in Wilmington, Del. She's also leading the MWC Delaware chapter, along with keeping up with Meg (6) and Bobby (3). She and Martin took their vacation in the spring, going to Tenn., Smokey Mtns., N.C., and Va., and thoroughly enjoyed their trip.

A change of address card from the Alumnet Office says that Morge Pierce Metzler has moved from Rhode Island to an FPO in San Francisco. Her husband is on the USS Goldsborough (DDG 20, if you Navy people can figure it out!

Sorry I don't have more news, but there's plenty of time between now and January 10, 1973, to drop me, Janie, Peggy or Phyllis a line.

Bye for now,
Connie

It is always exciting to meet people and see new places. Cal and I have just returned from a delightful trip to Calif. While there we had the pleasure of seeing Dr. Daniel Woodward in his new position as Director of the Huntington Library and Art Gallery. It is a far cry from E. Lee Trinkle! Dr. Woodward is presently interning in the Research Department and seemed genuinely happy to pass some of that acquired knowledge on to us as he showed us around the beautiful art gallery, museum, and botanical garden. Some of the most fascinating features were the treasured books and manuscripts dating back to the 11th century, shrubs and trees from every continent, and the original "Pinkie" and "Blue Boy" paintings. So our sorrow at his leaving Mary Washington must be overshadowed by the magnitude of his new position. We are happy for him and wish that more of you would drop in on him and see for yourselves.

A card from Ann I hadn't seen for a long time was that of Frances Grafton. We are near neighbors, and she has been a dear helping out on chapter activities. She enjoys living alone and traveling on the job.

It is also good to keep seeing Lang Scruggs ('65)—if only on TV! Her latest role was on "Corner Bar"—as a barmaid! Couldn't miss that "Langhorne" on the billings.

All of you classmates who are reading this, write to your agents.

Hi! Hope everyone had a nice summer. My family kept quite busy this summer with school—I took an education course while Dick taught summer school at the University of Maryland. Lisa, my 3½ year old daughter, was a flower girl in her uncle's wedding in June and really stole the show.

We spent almost three weeks in Norfolk in August. While there I visited Mary Lou Skeeter McDaniel and her new son, David Leigh, who has red hair like daddy Steve.

I ran into Brenda Hand Farrell and daughter Jennifer (age 2) at the beach. Brenda is now living in Lawton, Oklahoma, but will move to Quantico where John will be stationed in March.

Had a nice phone chat with Janet Hartman Milbury who called to tell me about her new daughter, Lesly, born in August. Janet and husband Ed also have a 4 year old son, Brian.

Janet talks often to Donna Robinson who is still flying for Delta Airlines. Donna is based in Atlanta, Georgia.

Judy Royal Maslin is living in Richmond.

Congratulations to Ellen Jones Tompkins and husband John on the birth of a son, John IV, in July. Ellen, let me hear from you!

Judy Strawbridge Dickinson, do you have any exciting news? Write!

Hi! Not too much news this time. However, some baby announcements did come. On April 17th to Jackie Strollo Crouch and Mike their first child, Kimberly Michele. Jackie writes that Mike graduates in August and they will be leaving the Norfolk area for wherever Uncle Sam wishes to send them. She plans to be traveling with Mike, two coast, several house plants and the new baby all in one car! Good luck on your trip and congratulations on the little one! Patti

Bergin Bergman and Major Don had their third child and first daughter, Rebecca Marie in April—Leave it to the Marines to plan so well—They've been up along past it was going to be a girl! "TJ." Charron had her second child, a boy, Nicolas, in March. She is living in the D.C. area.

Mary Parsons Black and Ron are moving to Long Island. Ron will be completing his graduate degree in Hospital Administration—We're looking forward to having them in the metropolitan area.

Please send news of yourself and others—Hoping to hear from you soon!

Gerry

There are two notes of special interest to share this time. The first is from Rod and Linda Grier Johnson telling of the birth of their son, Matthew, on July 6th. "We've finally joined the 'family set,'" Linda wrote. "He's blond, blue-eyed, and eats like a little pig." The Johnsons are still living in Greenwich Village and plan to for several more years. They are buying a co-op apartment, with "much renovating to do." Linda and Rod both received their M.A.'s in June. Rod is now vice president at Parne, Webber, Jackson and Curtis, and Linda is busy being a mommy. Thanks for letting us hear from you, Linda.

The second newsy item concerns another set of proud new parents, Wayne and Mary Wright Day, whose baby arrived on July 26th. Thomas Wright, Lynn Marie, and they are "tickled pink." "Naturally, we think our little girl is the cutest there ever was. She's got lots of brown hair, a double chin, and dimples at both cheeks."

Well, I must confess that I'm pulling a "late-nighter" to write this, and it's quite reminiscent of our days at MWC. However, now it is not so much from procrastination as from necessity—a quiet house is pretty rare during daylight hours, as most of you no doubt understand. I would be glad to stay up and continue writing if there was a stack of newsy letters to include, but this is it. I know we're all busy, but do try to find a few minutes before the Jan. 10 deadline to let us know what you're doing.

Ginny

My first summer in the deep South proved to be a rather hot and exhausting experience. I am only too ready for the crisp, cool days of fall.

I've heard from very few people, so the news will be scarce. Anne Powell Young and Virgil are on the move again. This time it's to New York City, where they will probably stay for the next few years. Anne was kind enough to pass along some news. She reports that Connie Cline Bunkin ('69) is living in Woodbridge, where hubby Mitch is opening a dentist's office. The Bunkins were expecting their first child in September. Connie's sister, Liz Cline Williamson, is living in Kansas. She has a son, Christopher Sean, born last March 20th. While in Monterey, Anne ran into Ann Forsaler ('65). The Stielers are in the Defense Language School. Before becoming Mrs. Stieler, Ann was an airline stewardess.

Finally heard from my good friend, Gracie Crozier Taylor. The Taylors are all excited about the stork paying them a visit come December, especially since twins are due. Little Bradley, 5, will enjoy his new brothers or sisters, I'm sure. Carolee also writes that her roommate, Marilyn Mullen Miller ('65), and Bill are still living in Alexandria with Monica, 4, and Scott, 2.

Candy Schumacher Jepsen and Moe paid us a short visit in July while en-route to Florida. They have decided to stay in Allentown, Pa. now that Moe has finished his degree. To prove it, they bought a beautiful home on lots of land. Candy has naturally been quite creative in decorating it.

Although the weather has been unbearable at times, Clyde and I have managed to have a busy summer. I've found myself involved in the officers' wives' organization on post—both volunteer and club work. One job is the asst. ed. of a newsletter. Now I appreciate a paper, for I know all the work that is involved. We are both anxious for spring to come as our first baby is due at the end of March. Needless to say, we are both eager and excited to join the ranks of parenthood!

Would love to hear from some of you before the next issue. Have a pleasant fall!!!

This year and through next June, I am representing the classes of 1966-72 on the Alumnae Association Board of Directors. I am completing the term of Sally Monroe Fox ('68) who resigned. I am taking advantage of my easy access to the Alumnae Office to add some news about other members of the class of '66 that I gathered last spring while working on our class solicitation.

Bertha Jo Terry Caruthers is married to an attorney in Arlington, Va. who has just begun practicing law with several other lawyers. Bertha Jo and her husband have two little girls, 4 and 2. She relayed the news that Kitty Cathryn] Downns was married this summer.

I also talked with Joy Soper Huff who has been Mrs. James Huff for the past six years and is now elementary school in Fairfax, where she and her husband own a house. Joy had this news of other members of our class:

Jackie Jenella Crouch had a baby girl this summer. Jennifer Jamison Bryan, who left school to marry Frank the summer before we graduated, is now living in the Norfolk area, where Frank is teaching. They have two small children, Kristin and Greg. Another member of our class, Jane Guill Hilton, who left to marry after her junior year, and her husband are living in Gettysburg, Pa. They have two little girls, Courtney (6) and Jennifer (2). Mary Cocks Wiedeman and her husband have a little girl, Stasia, born in 1969. Charlotte Stultz is living in Fairfax and teaching sixth grade. Charlotte has made several trips to Europe and spent this summer traveling across country.

I graduated from Georgetown University Law Center in 1969 and was associated with the firm of Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton for over two years. In October, 1971, I came to the Federal Trade Commission. I am currently working in the office of Commissioner Mary Gardiner Jones. As one of her advisors, I am able to share to some extent in the decision-making process in addition to working on Commission opinions. I have returned to Europe on vacation four times since graduation and each time have stopped to visit friends in Paris, even when going to Eastern Europe and the USSR or Greece and Turkey. This year I am Alumnae Association Fund Chairman, so I hope to see even greater participation from other members of the class of '66!

Hi!

I'm really delighted to be one of the agents for our class, and only hope that you all will send as much news as possible to Mary Mac and me so that we can keep everyone informed on our classmates. I have to admit that correspondence by mail has never been one of my strong points. (It is so much easier to pick up the phone)! But I have made a resolution to really persevere and send in some interesting news.

I am hoping that Christmas cards from you will bring us up-to-date on everyone's families, careers, travels, etc. because I haven't received too much news since the class reunion. Although the reunion was terrifically covered by Jeanne Torrence Van Lear, I just want to say how very much John and I enjoyed seeing those who attended and meeting your husbands.

John and I attended the wedding of Caroline Moncure to Jerry Taylor (Duke '67) on September 9, 1972. Caroline and Jerry are living in Alexandria. Jerry is in the real estate business and restoring townhouses on Capitol Hill, and Caroline is a stewardess for Pan American Airlines.

At a cocktail party given for Caroline and Jerry, I talked with Aida Arnold. Aida is working in an administrative capacity for the airlines and living in Georgetown.

One night this past summer, John and I took Bethan to a carnival and we ran into Brenda Broadley Howard. Brenda and her husband are living in Arlington and have an adorable little boy about a year-and-a-half old.

Jane Wolfe Stilmar and her husband, Ben, spent eight days this summer kayaking down the Colorado River. Jane and Ben are living in Alexandria.

I talk with Linda Todd Puller (Toddy) at least twice a month, and consequently, our phone bills resemble the national debt. Lewis, Toddy's husband, is in his second year of law school at William and Mary, and they have 2 children, Lewpie, 3, and Maggie, 1½.

Martha Fuller Downs and her husband, Michael, are living in Alexandria now. Michael is a major in the Marine Corps, and the Downs recently welcomed the arrival of their second son, Lewis Burwell Fuller Downs.

This is about all the news I've been able to gather. My next deadline is around the first of January, so please send me a Christmas card with a little note about your life.

I hope everyone has a very Merry Christmas, and best wishes for the coming year!

Hello, all!

My apologies for being rather tardy in reporting some news items, but between having a baby and moving during the last six months, there has been time for little else! Bob and I are now the proud parents (to use a time honored cliche) of a bouncing baby boy, Robert Sean. He was born 3lb 7½ oz., and weighed 8 lbs., 3½ ozs. It has been a really different and enjoyable experience for both of us. After I resigned from teaching in March, we moved closer to Fort Belvoir so that Bob would no longer have to commute. We have our own house on the base and are enjoying all of the room, which is rapidly being filled with antiques. If any of you in the area desire to go antique shopping someday, just give me a call!! I guess you could call me an antique nut.

A happy birthday goes to Ann Scott Lankey's little girl, Rebecca Lynn, who was born on the same day as Sean, one year ago. These Leos are increasing rapidly!

Some of you may remember Beth Gordy, who attended MWC for two years before graduating in Nursing from UVA. She has since received her master's in Public Health from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. She sent a clipping of her wedding to Thomas L. Arvidson, which took place on October 30, 1971, and which sounded perfectly lovely. Congrats, Beth. They will be residing in San Francisco—what a great place to be!

Mollie Fornes Peery and her husband, Skip, are stationed at Fort Belvoir too. We met at a party, surprisingly enough. Skip is currently in the advanced course here and Mollie is at home with her child.

Stevie Danahy Shelthorse is still living in Hampton and visits Fredericksburg often. Her little girl, Mary Sledd, is really growing up fast. Stevie looks marvelous—must be that beach air!

Melodye Trowpel Glasner wrote at Christmas to say that she is in Alexandria. She was married in December of 1969 and her husband, Bob, is assistant manager at Capitol Services, Inc. They have a son, Chad Anthony, born on April 15, 1971. She also passed on some other news about Pat Bailey Gonzales and Sherry Burke Stempel. Pat and Jimmy have two lovely daughters and are also raising and showing Arabian horses as hobbydogs. That sounds interesting! Sherry and her husband, Frank, an investment banker with MERRILL, LYNCH AND PIERCE, are living in Atlanta. Sherry is no longer with Pan Am, but is now director of stewardess instruction for Southern Airways.

Helen Sullivan Lovelace is still in Florida, but her husband, Bobby, is in of all places—ALASKA! He'll be home in December and out of the Air Force as well. They hope to remain in Florida where Helen is still teaching and where Bobby will return to work with Crawford and Company.

I hope that some of you career girls will write some interesting items for us and those of you who haven't written, please do so soon. Let us know you're still alive!!

Maureen Murphy McCart is the only faithful correspondent whose letter has found its way to my mailbox recently, but luckily it was full of news about fellow classmates. Maureen and Dan became proud parents of Margaret Aileen in July, 1971. They have bought a home in Dallas where Maureen reports a new MWC chapter has emerged. Our class is well represented by Janice McKoy Parker, Tonya Tuzin McBee, and Sue Parnham Piatt. Sue and Joe Piatt had a son, Jeffrey McCullough, in August, 1971. Sam and Suzanne McCarthy Van Ness ('69), now living in San Francisco, were also blessed with a son, Jeffrey David, in February, 1972.

Sheila Fix Roberson and Larry now have 2 boys—the latest addition, Matthew Edward, was born in May, 1972. Larry is now a captain in the USMC, and they have settled in a house in Pensacola for the next few years. Last year Sheila enjoyed a 2 month visit to Japan to join Larry, spending time in Hiroshima too.

Shirley Fix Pollock and her husband David recently returned from a Peace Corps tour and enjoyed several months of travel on the way home. They've now settled in Indiana.

Myra Butler Uruski ('71) and Andy had a son, Andrew Michael, Jr., in July, 1972. They're now located in Jacksonville, N.C.

Maureen visited with Catharine Rossi Watkins ('70) and Joe on a recent trip East. They have bought a townhouse in Woodbridge, Va. Joe works for the government and Catharine works for the Va. Employment Commission in Fredericksburg.

Mary Margaret Marston Monroe and Rick have just bought a beautiful new home in Marietta, Ga. Mary Margaret plans to quit her full-time directorship this fall and work part-time. Rick is still with Reynolds Aluminum in Atlanta. I know they'll be busy as new homeowners during the coming year.

Larry and Susan Roth Nurin ('66) will be moving to Annapolis in Sept. where Larry is opening an office. He has just completed post graduate work in periodontics at NYU.

Judy Jackson Jones and Kip are in Richmond; Kip is in his last year of medical school at MCV. The U.S. Army will most likely enter into their subsequent plans!

Diane Pugh Gay ('69) and Bill have finished their tour in Thailand and are now in Germany.

Juanita Fisher Party ('69) and Jack are living in Norfolk, Va. Jack returned from a med cruise this spring, and Juanita was able to travel through Southern Europe while following his ship.

Mary Ann Austin became Mrs. Donald Mortensen in June. They will be living in Richmond where Mary Ann has been teaching since graduation.

Robert and Ce Goode Klink ('67) became the parents of a little boy in July, 1971. Nancy McDonold Legat ('67) and Dan now live in Atlanta and have two little girls.

Now living outside Los Angeles, Rich and Nancy Bell Patterson are keeping busy between jobs and working on their house.

Reggie Sneed ('69) is leading an exciting "bachelor" life in San Francisco where she works for the government in consumer affairs.

A new son, Peter Mac, entered into the picture for Pat and Barbara McLoughlin Carroll in May, 1972. They're very proud parents and are enjoying Peter's daily progress in Meridian, Miss.

Pam Tompkins Vance is back in Virginia Beach after a fantastic voyage to Europe this summer. She will be teaching 3 English courses at Tidewater Community College this fall.

Thanks to a free state telephone line, Suzy Blenkenship Capone and I keep in touch frequently! She, Cap and Kevin spent their vacation on Cape Cod this summer. Suzy and Kevin were also able to get down to Virginia Beach to visit Suzy's family for 2 weeks in July.

Sally Mamer Cox, John, and their 2 children spent the latter part of the summer vacationing in Calif. with Sally's family. They had a busy summer in Westport, Conn., making frequent "runs" to the beach with Christopher, Jennifer, pails, shovels, and additional beach paraphernalia!

Steve surprised me with a first anniversary trip to Nassau in July. We spent a wonderful week there, then enjoyed several days camping in Maine and N.H. The fall session has started at UMass so Amherst is hopping again, bringing with it busier jobs and fall courses for us. Steve will be teaching a night course on wines this semester, and in addition to his job as director of catering, he has been given a position as manager of the Top of the Campus restaurant– a beautiful spot on the 11th floor which overlooks the entire campus. We're most excited about this promotion as it will give him lots of new experience in the restaurant field.

Please put our 5 year reunion–April 13-15–on your 1973 calendar. I hope everyone will make a special effort to be there–I can't wait!

I heard from a few new beings this time, and you have no idea what life that brings to my dull black mailbox. Hope it will do the same for yours. I guess all those marriages we've been reporting for the past few years are showing "side effects," because babies seem to be dominating the news. And, of course, ours is the one I consider the most exciting! Little Julian is scheduled to appear in January, and, if I must be trite, we are thrilled. Just the other day Anne Hoskyn Kreutzer wrote to say that she and Tom will be parents in late February. Barbara Hoppe Reid is due in October. Ann Kucinski Steaner gave birth to a son last winter, as did Barbara Henderson Riordan. Anne also related that Martha Wilbourne Cummings and Mike are living near them in Woodbridge. Mike being stationed at Quantico. Marianne DeBlois spent a month in Europe this summer, mostly in France and Spain. Did you visit the DeBlois castle, Marianne?

A surprise letter came from Mary Rozanski Edwards, who married Chester Bellon Edwards, II on June 24, 1972. They met in Calif. while she was attending graduate school and came East after the earthquake in Feb., 1971. Mary is back at her old job with AT&T in White Plains, N.Y. doing computer programming, and Chet is a collections manager with General Electric Credit Dorp. One of Mary's wedding attendants was Valerie Dennehl Lane; she and her husband, Lee, are living in Charlottesville, where she has been teaching high school Spanish. Eileen Garrett ('70) was also at the wedding and is now in Spain to complete her master's. She spent her second summer at Middlebury College. Mary sent word of Caroline Berry Hemmerstone on June 23, 1972, to Antonio Jover in Alicante, Spain, where she has been living since Sept., 1969.

I just received a letter from Lyn Howell Gray, which updates one I had gotten long ago from Linda Eadie Matthews. Linda has accepted a job with the General Services Admin. in Washington, and at the moment, is doing a bit of commuting home to Henry in Norfolk while he finishes his master's. In Linda's letter she mentioned having talked to Amy Danforth Sharratt when she and Bryan were East for her sister's MWC graduation. The Sharratts were expecting a baby in early August, so I hope you'll fill us in, Amy. Joan Mueller has been doing a bit of traveling, to Hawaii and Bermuda. . . not bad!! Joan had talked to Pat Adair Poates who's living in Vienna, Va., where she is now a guidance counselor.

A nice long letter came from Susan Gentry Rochmer, and she and John are terribly excited about their new house near Reston. It really sounds beautiful, so I hope it will be completed on time as they're anxious to move in. Susan's old roomie, Kathy Bell Stoddard, and Gary are also living in Reston; she is working for Geological Survey while Gary is finishing his thesis for a master's in Economics from UVA. Susan also gathered some news when they attended Kathie Davis' ('70) wedding to George Craft in Winchester in June; Kathie is working for the Naval Ordnance Sta. at Indian head, Md., and he for the Navy Dept. at Crystal City. Other 1970 grads at the wedding were Carol Mayer Hofer, Linda Horne, and Betty Brew. Carol and Stu have bought a house in N.J., where he commutes to N.Y. and his job with Time magazine. Linda is working as a medical technologist at Duke University.

Just a few more notes in passing. . . Cecelia Smith Riffer called one night from her home in Ballston Spa, N.Y. She's expecting her first from people, and if Ann Simpson Herzog doesn't write to someone soon, we're going to send out a search party! Katherine Coffey Gongel and family are settled back in Portsmouth and Mike is working for Va. National Bank. Jean Mongole Duncan and Dwight took a long awaited vacation throughout the Northeast this summer. Dwight was ordained in June, and we still regret not being able to attend at the last minute. We're off to the beach for a long weekend tomorrow–just after Labor Day. I'm still substituting at Head Start every now and then while and my "boundless pregnant energy" is keeping me going with sewing, painting, and, would you believe, Christmas shopping! This is a plea for anyone and everyone to write; the next deadline is January 10, 1973, so before you start your Christmas cards, send me all your news. Waiting to hear from you!

Dear Alumnae,

WOW! It's been ages and the time has just flown by since June, 1971. I must apologize for my missing column, but it seems everytime I'm about to send one in, the packers come and it disappears until I get to my new duty station. I am now in sunny, southern California (sunny when the smog lifts) at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro. Since graduation from MWC, I have been to Quantico, Va.; Newport, R.I.; Cleveland, Ohio; Washington, D.C.; Camp LeJeune, N.C.; and now El Toro, Calif., all compliments of the United States Marine Corps. Also, on 26 August 1972, at the Marine Memorial Chapel in Quantico, I became the wife of Samuel Pleasant Lewis, a Chief Warrant Officer (Marine, naturally), who is the director of food services out here. Our honeymoon was a long drive across the United States by way of some beautiful and some very desolate country. We are now settled in Tustin, Calif. and I've been in contact with the western branch of our class. Michele McAdam Demuralyes nearby. She just had a baby boy, Christopher, in August and is "perfect but hateful," as is his way to Thailand for a year. Michele will be moving back east to her home in North Wales, Penn., when Tom is coming back. Jan Thomson Bloom and Mary (also a Marine Captain) just had a beautiful baby girl.

At my wedding I had a pleasant surprise in Linda Dunman who is working on her master's in psychology and living in Athens, Ga. She was the guest of one of my husband's good friends and was very surprised to find out I was the bride! Sylvia Schweb Marr and Bill were up from Camp LeJeune for the wedding. Sylvia has given up flying for Pan Am to be a full time wife and she looks great. They are waiting for Bill to get out of the Marine Corps to go back to law school. Dale Broughton Seibert and Lee have plans to travel through Europe for awhile after Erik gets out of the Corps early in 1973.

Elizabeth (Liz) Keith is living in Madison, Va. working as an Adult Service Worker for the county and she finds it exciting and interesting. Liz has seen Debby Baarke and a few other MWC'ers on occasion at various conferences in the state.

I know I don't have much to write this time, but the address I'm using will be good for two years. So now that I'm finally settled for awhile, I'll be able to correspond a little more regularly. Until next time, happiness to everyone.

Karen

Hello classmates! It seems like years since I've seen anyone, and for some reason, my correspondence has diminished since my marriage. There is no excuse; the Post Office still sells stamps!

I did manage a short trip to the States in May and fortunately saw a few members of the class. I stayed with Pat Kilfelor, Pat Stuart, and Debby Baarke for a weekend in Fredericksburg. Debby is being transferred to the Washington, D.C. area with Planned Parenthood. Pat and Tish will work with Head Start in Spotsylvania County Welfare Dept. until they can save up enough money to come and visit Andre and I. Diane Hicks and Sara Smith Mundy are living in Fredericksburg and working for the Welfare Dept. of Spotsylvania Co.

Beth Lange is also having got the travel bug and had to leave Virginia Beach for clearer waters–Greece! They went with Corinne Davis and Vicki Palm for a month. Now that they have been going to Hawaii ever since. They have hit all of the major tourist attractions and it sounds like paradise. Anne C. Arbuckle Kenyon and Bill are living in Dayton, Ohio, where Bill is working for Du Pont.

Brenda Hinson, Irene Stevenson and Mary Stuart White are all living together in Richmond. Renie and Brenda are teaching and Mary Stuart is a case worker for the city Welfare Dept. Fay Addison is working for Social Security in Frederick, Md.

Barbara Vick Meyer and Ned have moved into their house in Richmond where Ned is working for his father. Nan Youngren Hunt and Steve have moved to Charlotte, N.C., where Steve will be working.

Susan Hardee has been into a lot of things since the last year, and among them all, Susan manages a photography/art gallery in Alexandria–"Bird-in-Hand". Susan puts on shows, writes On

"Reviews" and sells photographic art. She loves it and the programs sound fantastic. If I lived a little closer, I would definitely visit you, Susan!

Brenda Brittain Miller ('70) and Art are still living at Virginia Beach and are in the process of looking for a house. Shelley Cooper Golder is playing housewife and mother to Sammy while Bruce is receiving promotion after promotion in Claymont, Del. Congratulations, Bruce!

Helen Hopkins is being very active traveling all around Europe. Helen started out in Bermuda (naturally), and after Copenhagen, Rome, and Paris, plans to work in St. Anton, Austria for the winter. I hope we will be able to get together.

Brenda Pritchett and Pam Temple are living together in Richmond. Pam is engaged and very busy planning her December wedding. Brenda is rather undecided about her plans and might be moving to Fredericksburg soon.

Stephanie Steiger is living in Fredericksburg and working for the F'burg National Bank.

I am busy playing housewife high in the Swiss Alps and loving every minute! I am curious to know if there are other members of our class living in Europe, and where? Please write and send me all the latest news; I'm only a letter and a stamp away!

Sally

News this summer has been quite scarce, but I did receive a few letters.

Last spring I met Sharon Letherer Moser and Brynhilde Irving Winn at the Southern Reading Convention in Hampton. They both teach in Spotsylvania County. Last year Sharon taught the third grade at Berkeley Elementary.

Florence Moses is also teaching. She has been trying to keep ahead of her Math 7, 8 and 9 students as well as two geometry classes in Nokesville. When Florence wrote in May, she had wedding plans for August 19 to marry David Williams. David has a final year at George Mason University and then plans to attend graduate school. Florence will continue teaching in Nokesville. Florence also sent news of Joy Regland Martin, Joy and Tom live in New Haven, Conn., where Tom attends Yale's Divinity School. In the meantime, Joy is working at the University and taking a computer course.

Kathy McMichael spent quite an exciting two months taking a trip around the world in the spring of '71. She visited such places as Hawaii, Guam, Japan, Thailand and India. In Israel, Kathy spent several days with Ann Montanari Mechanic ('70) who is teaching school there. Kathy has been teaching Social Studies at Kawameek Jr. High School in Union, N.J. When I last heard from her, Kathy was also planning to marry, on August 19 to Bruce Christiansen of N.J. She added an interesting side note to her letter. Kathleen Nunn ('70) married Homer Badal, and they now live in Tehran, Iran.

In June I saw Linda VanPatten Christoferson at the wedding of Mary Buckingham ('72) to Chris Lipsey. Linda was married June 3, 1972 to Donald Christoferson, a graduate of William and Mary. They live in Gaithersburg, Md., and both work for the Cancer Society.

This year I am teaching the fourth grade in a self-contained situation. This is quite a change from teaching last year in an open space classroom.

My next deadline is January 1. A line or two in a Christmas card would be greatly appreciated. Hope you had a pleasant and relaxing summer.

Doris

The news from the "rainy" class of 1972 is unfortunately sparse. I want very much to hear from you all even if you are doing absolutely nothing.

Quite a few of our classmates did end up in the ranks of the "gainfully employed." Among them is Jeanne Helmandollar who is with the Naval Research Center in Bethesda, Md. On December 30 of this year, Jean plans to marry Lt. Jim Holsman and move to Camp Pendleton in San Diego, Cal. Best wishes, Jean!

Also with the Navy is Brenda Franklin. Brenda's job is taking her to Long Island, N.Y. Brenda's roommate, Marilyn Pucillo, will be teaching in the Newport News area along with Robin Palmer.

Debbie Hort was at summer school (MWC) boning up on her French for her grad school reading exam. Debbie is enrolled at Penn State.

Another graduate student is Ann Fonler, who's way down in Atlanta, Ga. at Emory. Ann is in the School of Library Science. There are three others from our class working on a master's degree in Library Science: Judy Summerrold at Peabody in Tenn., Anne Thoms at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., and yours truly at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N.C. Also at UNC, Chapel Hill, will be Pam Londreth in the Graduate School of Geography.

Judy Tankersley and Bobbie Tuttle who left us early are both at graduate school at UVA.

Sondra Edwards and Jill Summerbell are sharing an apartment in Fredericksburg. Sandra is teaching in one of the county schools. At this writing, Jill is still looking.

Sharon Wilkins Cockrell worked at Wakefield this summer and is currently teaching in Colonial Beach. She has been doing very little other than that, especially not writing. That is a hint, Mrs. Cockrell!

Prince William County Schools have employed Estelle Colemen to teach studio art.

Susan Burgess and Miriam Allis Banks have both finished at the UVA School of Nursing. Susan has settled in Charlottesville. She and Mary Alice Geoman are sharing an apartment and working at the UVA Hospital. Miriam has gone back to Northern Virginia where her husband is finishing work on his master's.

Ruthanne McBride will be getting her commission as a 2nd Lt. in the Marine Corps soon.

Finishing Touches

Mary Washington College, which ceased to be a part of the University of Virginia three months ago, is still making the related changes in its image. The latest included removal of metal letters spelling out the University's name on markers at two campus corners on William Street. Elwood Jett of Stafford, carpenter foreman at the College, does the honors.

The Honor Code: A Way of Life

The Honor System *is fundamentally a code of personal integrity. It means that students of Mary Washington College accept the challenge to make their word of honor a pledge of absolute truthfulness in all matters that fall within the Honor Code.
